ARLION

PRESENTED BY THE STUDENTS OF ARNOLD
HIGH SCHOOL

ARNOLD, PENNSYLVANIA

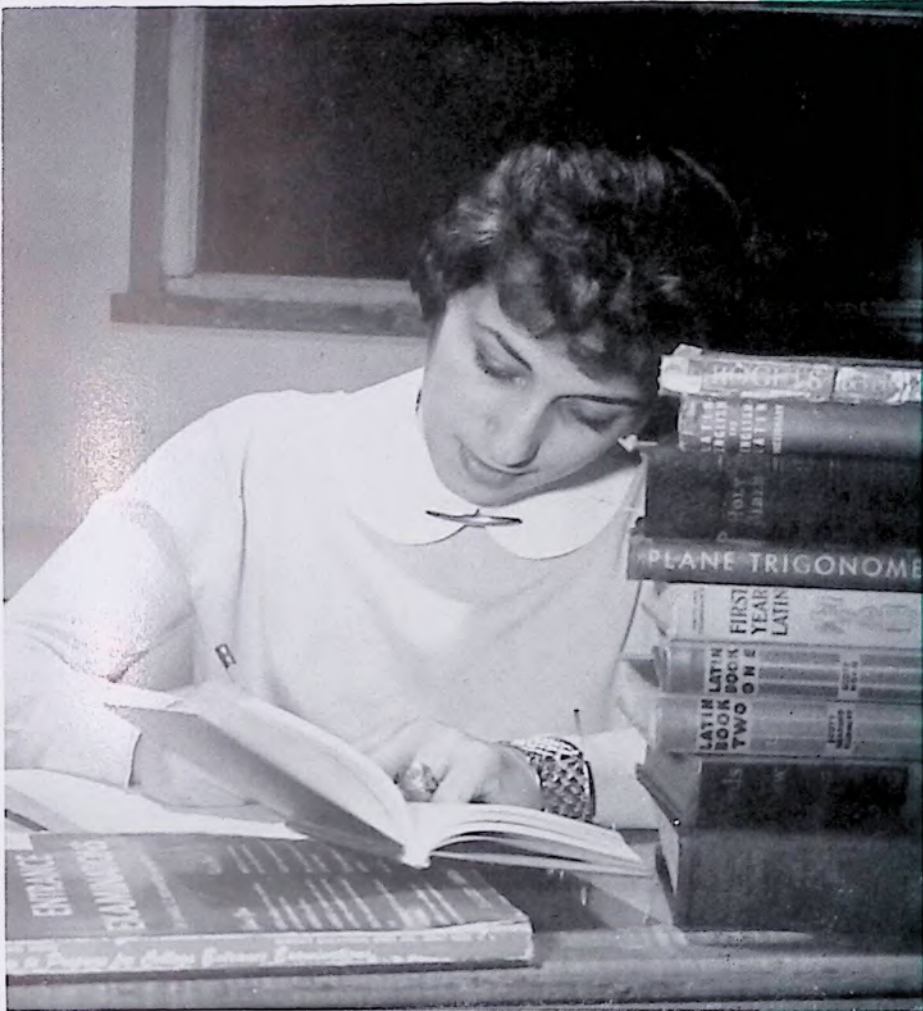

The ever unfolding drama of school life

Now—at last, the hours of preparing—the days of planning—and the months of organizing are molded together in this pictorial volume which the Arlion Staff has produced for you.

Contents

P. Kosky—Most outstanding student

Our book contains the personalities we know so well. The many activities, depicted in their truest form, took place in the classrooms which we shared together fondly. We recognize the athletes and their respective sports—all of whom we are so proud. The Arlion Staff sincerely hopes that this yearbook will remain among your most treasured possessions.

PEOPLE

ACTIVITIES

ATHLETICS

Seldom is a high school privileged to claim the devotion and energy of an entire family. Yet, Arnold High School is unique in that it has had all the members of the Joseph J. Pallone family take an active part in its educational growth.

Dr. Pallone began his teaching career twenty-three years ago as a teacher in Business Education. He supervised a work-training program for seniors in the Business Education field. Later he became Athletic Director; and in 1946, under the advisorship of Dr. Pallone, the first yearbook was published following an absence of 14 years. Both as assistant principal and as principal, Dr. Pallone's ability and energy to attain the educational ideals to be sought in a high school continued to make him a fine administrator.

Mrs. Pallone, who is a Business Education teacher, also taught at Arnold High School.

Patty, who is 17, and Mary Jo, who is 14, have shown their loyalty through their boundless vitality and their enthusiastic support of the curriculum at Arnold.

It is with sincere appreciation and grateful recognition of the Pallone family, that we dedicate the 1957 Arlion.

Board of Education

Behind the scenes in every organization are those people who are unseen and unsung. We of Arnold High School are deeply indebted to our board of education who are such people in our organization. The population of Arnold has elected these seven men as its advocates for the cause of better education. The board, realizing the importance of an adequate education, does everything possible that we may have every advantage.

The weight of many problems has been placed on the shoulders of this group of men. They should be proud of the way in which they have coped with these problems and the way in which they have made this year a success. Through their efforts it has been made possible to maintain a well equipped school, an efficient administration, and a capable teaching staff.

As we, the class of 1957, step forth into a seemingly cruel world, we will remember their untiring efforts to help make us the good citizens which the world of today needs.

A wise and humble guide through the best years of our lives

Graduates of 1957:

May your first ambition be to help build a better community, nation and world. The greatest satisfaction that can come to you is the ability to accomplish something more than the mere maintenance of your own life. You can do this by serving others.

The greatest and most honored individuals of our nation were not self-seekers, but were dedicated to meeting the needs and wants of their fellow men. Men, such as Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Edison, Bell and the Wright brothers were not concerned with fame or money, but with advancing human welfare.

If you would serve the high purpose of advancing human welfare, you might begin by resolving to be a better scientist, lawyer, doctor, engineer or whatever else your vocation might be—better than any of those who have gone before you. You will have a richer and fuller life if you first seek to serve mankind.

Principal

As each one of you leaves Arnold High School, you must become a more contributing member of society fitted adequately to the social whole and an essential part of it. This is a cooperative task and involves principle.

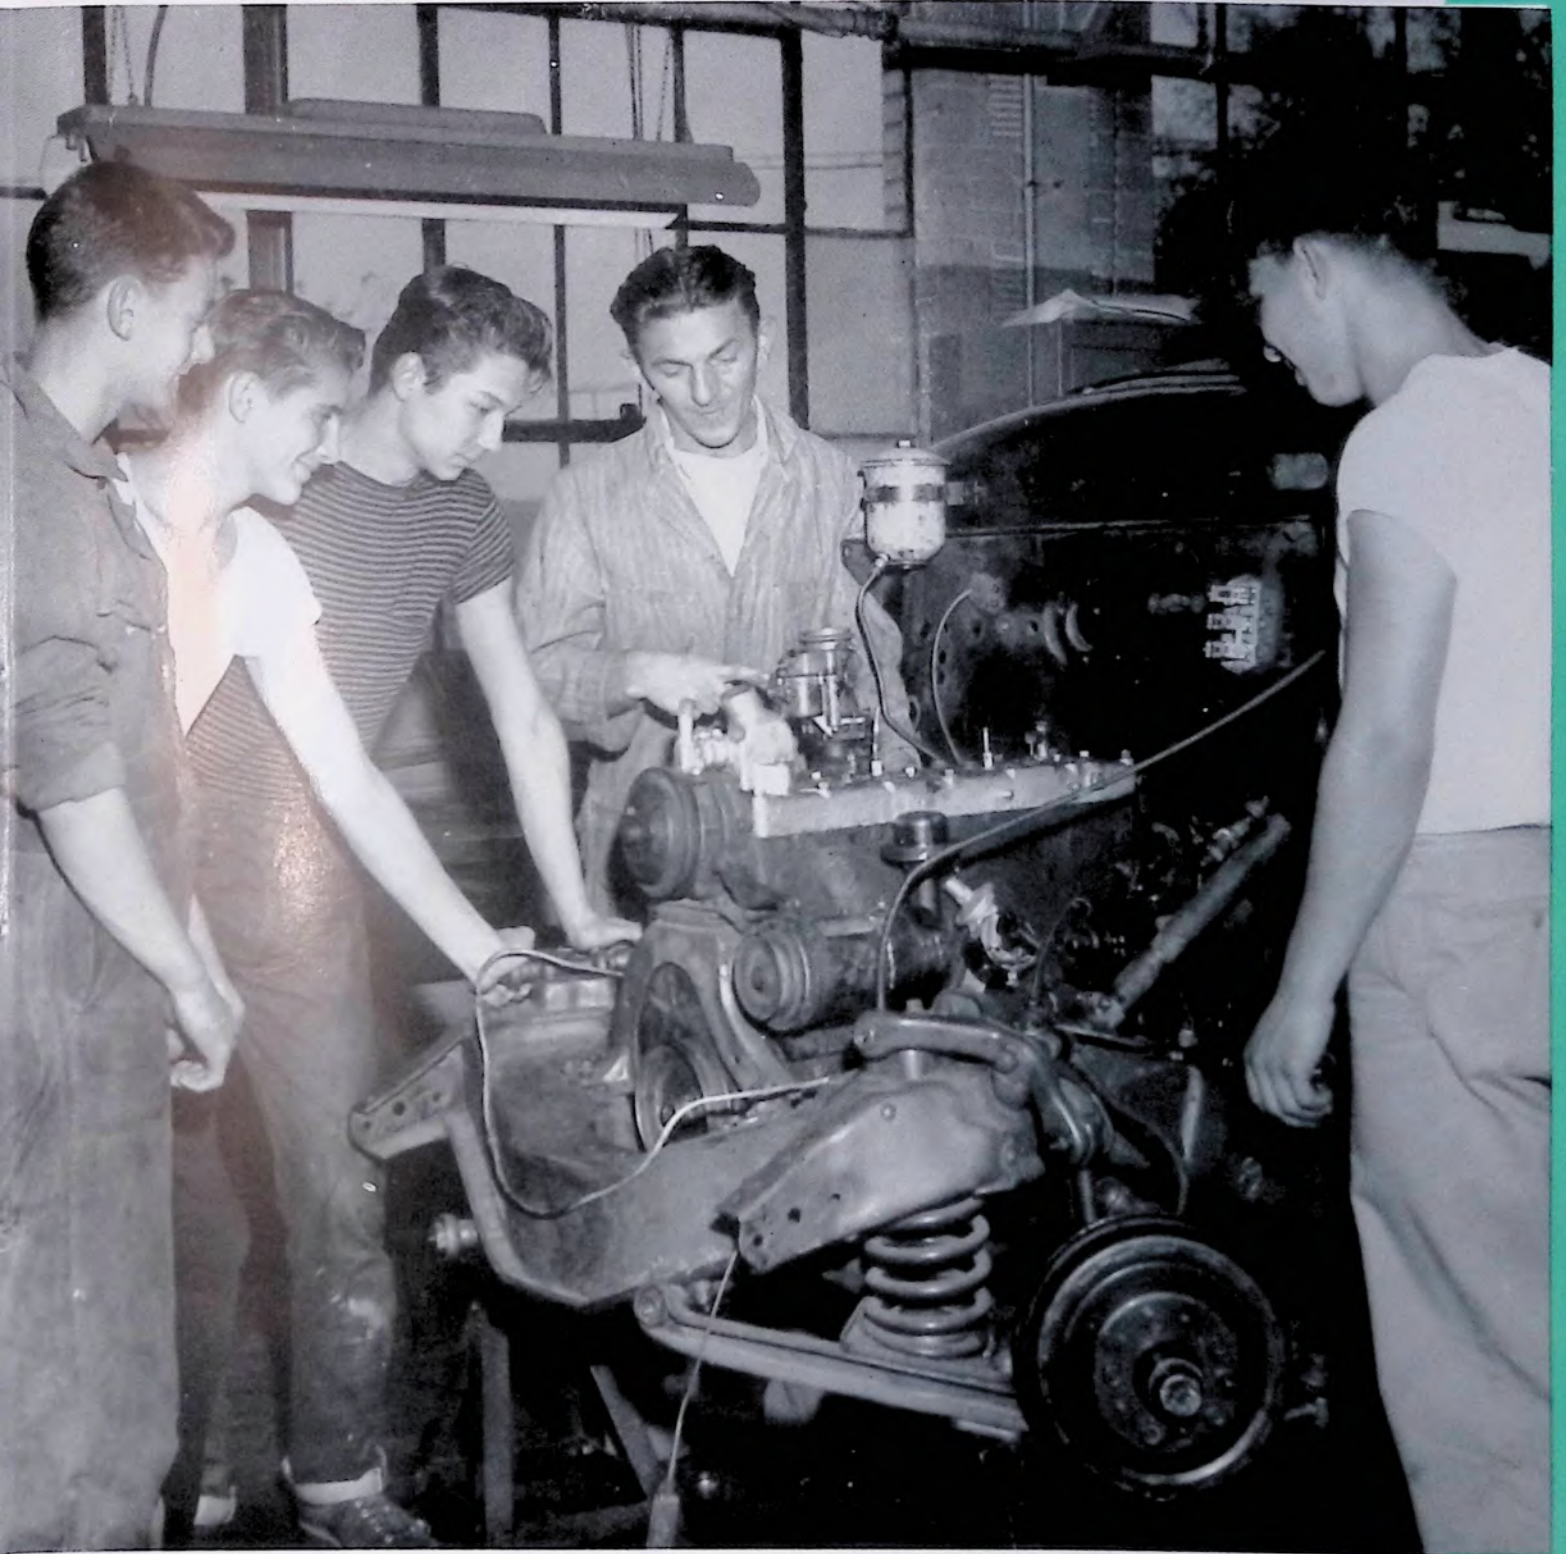

Do not try to put expediency ahead of principle. "A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, neither can a rotten tree produce fine fruit." Bad means do not bring good ends. Good produces good ends, whereas, evil means an evil end. To purchase expediency at the expense of principle is the snare of the shortsighted. Only by clinging to divine principles can permanent good come to all of you who contributed principle to no end.

Assistant Principal

Professor John Dewey, one of America's most profound philosophers, says that the deepest urge in human nature is the "desire to be important." That phrase the "desire to be important" is a gnawing and unfaltering human hunger. If people are so hungry for a feeling of importance, imagine what miracles you and I can achieve by giving them honest appreciation. This does not suggest flattery. Flattery should fail and usually does. It comes from the mouth; appreciation comes from the heart. Should we not cease thinking of our own accomplishments and wants, and begin to figure out the other man's good points. Give him honest, sincere appreciation and he will cherish your words long after you have forgotten them.

Faculty

We, the students of Arnold High School, are indeed fortunate to have as our faculty, a group of men and women, dedicated to the cause of education and its benefits. Cooperation and consideration may well be considered their key to success, for certainly, the faculty could not function as efficiently if they did not share in the common interest of improving our school and community.

Faculty

Admired teachers; respected friends

The endeavors of the faculty are too often taken lightly, but the value of their work is inestimable. Good example and dependable management by the faculty help keep the affairs of the school, both educational and social, in smooth running order. Alone success could not be attained. It takes a cooperative effort on the part of both students and faculty. By this means considerable progress has been made toward reaching the common goal of producing a better Arnold High School.

As the school year closes the Junior Class of Arnold High School leaves behind it a great host of achievements attained through the hard-working endeavor and initiative of its members.

The opening of football season found the juniors deep in the frenzy and bustle of manning the refreshment stands. As the season closed the juniors reflected upon the pleasurable experience, not only with a feeling of satisfaction from a job well done, but also with a feeling of restlessness stemming from a desire to do more to establish themselves as an able and necessary part of the school's curriculum.

An inventive enterprise of selling bright-colored beanies of orange and blue was soon begun. The persuasive salesmanship and untiring efforts of the junior class made this unique campaign a huge success.

The expertly decorated gym along with soft flowing music set everyone in a mood for an enjoyable evening of dancing and fun at the junior class dance.

The annual stage production, "Cheaper by the Dozen", certainly earned the ovation it received from the public as well as from the student body. Presented by a talented cast; supported by an energetic and resourceful stage crew, this rollicking comedy under the direction of Miss Mary Ellen Cipolla will long be remembered by all concerned.

Last, but certainly not least, came the momentous event that the juniors had worked and prepared for all year long—the Junior Prom. All cares were forgotten upon entering what seemed to be a new and enchanted world, insuring to everyone a magic evening never to be forgotten. Amid an array of gowns, corsages, and dinner jackets, the junior year was danced to its close, leaving behind laughter, joys, and memories, yet instilling in all a hopeful expectancy for what the future might hold.

First you put in the soap, then water . . .

We welcomed the sophomores into senior high this fall, and they proved beyond a doubt to be an outstanding class. All the dreams of their freshman year were realized as they participated in many extra-curricular activities. They showed their boundless energy and varied skills by participating in the choir, band, orchestra, student council and other organizations.

The honor roll also showed the sophomores to be studious and earnest about their scholastic advancement. They have grasped the reins of success firmly and planted their feet toward the future with determination and purpose.

This class is well-trained for the coming events as they approach their junior year. They are prepared to assume their responsibilities as upperclassmen and go forward in their ambitions, abilities, and friendships.

The class of 1960 will always remember their freshman year as a successful one.

Meeting the new responsibilities to raise money for their Junior-Senior Prom was a thrilling experience to all.

Early in the '56-'57 school term the freshmen elected their class officers: Thayer Forsht, President; Martin Evans, Vice President; Dominica Tripodi, Secretary; and Judy Hunger, Treasurer. Mrs. Clark and Mr. Peretti were their class advisors, who worked right along with the well-organized group.

The annual freshman class magazine sale started off their calendar of events. During the Christmas season the freshmen decorated the halls and painted the windows of the junior high building. In February, a very entertaining one-act comedy play, entitled "It's Cold in Them Thar Hills" was presented by this ambitious group.

Enjoyed by all was the Freshman Spring Dance which ended their activities for the year.

Their entrance into senior high will find many more responsibilities that they will conquer as sophomores.

The Grades

Start low, climb high, best of luck in senior high

Learning the right way of doing things

All in a day's work

The opening of the football season found our seventh and eighth graders cheering as enthusiastically as ever. Their peppy cheers of support helped to bring our team to many victories. Their cries of encouragement were not hushed during the basketball season for with the first whistle of the game came the resounding voices of our Junior High School.

The coming of Christmas found these students decorating the Victoria Avenue building for the approaching holiday. With trees, holly, and energy to spare, these ambitious students set forth to turn their halls and school rooms into a "Winter Wonderland."

Aside from their own achievements, they have lent a helping hand to the senior high by attending the dances and other social functions.

Arlion

It takes a year to build a yearbook and a devoted staff to build it well

Disregarding the old adage, "Too many cooks spoil the broth", the Arlion Staff gathered their pens, rulers, staple gun, dummy copy of the yearbook, typewriter, and brains, and set out to follow this recipe called, "Arlion Yearbook Deluxe."

The Arlion
"Big Three"

Sift hundreds of well posed pictures with a handful of punchy captions. Sprinkle in the endless stream of telephone calls for ads. Cream 157 glossy pictures with pinches of senior write-ups. When mixture becomes light and fluffy, beat in the months of feverish work and ideas of the yearbook committees. Combine with almost 50 write-ups and fold in original ideas of seniors.

Simmer slowly for weeks over slowly increasing heat and pour into brown and white cover; bake three to four months. Cool and serve a few weeks before graduation.

Standing: S. Johns, E. Posati, B. Gigler, K. McCracken, K. McNutt. Sitting: Business Manager, E. Nee.

National Honor Society

Students of today, leaders of tomorrow

To have attained membership in the National Honor Society is to have attained one of the most important goals which conscientious juniors and seniors set for themselves. Those who are fortunate enough to be chosen realize the honor of receiving this position, for each in his individual way has worked hard to receive it. Regardless of what field the student is outstanding in, he must pass four requirements before he is accepted into the society. These requirements are scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Scholastically the member must be in the upper third of his class, but not more than fifteen percent of the entire class may be selected to membership in this chapter of the society. The purpose of the society is to create a desire among the students to better themselves in order to be chosen future members of the National Honor Society.

It serves as an important link between the student body and the faculty. Their aim is to teach students the power of self-government. Representatives chosen from each home room make up the council.

At various times the students who were outstanding socially, scholastically, and athletically, were brought to the public eye. Everyone impatiently awaited his copy upon which he relied for news of the school.

Tri-Hi-Y is an organization which tends to build strong christian character throughout the home, school, and community. Ready, willing, and able are these members to offer their services whenever or wherever they are needed.

The holiday seasons found these girls busy packing baskets of good cheer for needy families in the community, and collecting cartoons, which were assembled into scrapbooks and sent to the Veterans Hospital for their viewing pleasures.

Although their services were many, so were their activities. The biggest and best project undertaken by this club was their Valentine formal.

The Arnold High School Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Marinucci, has again this year won much acclaim.

The week before the holidays the choir gave its annual Christmas program; and on the last day of school before Christmas vacation, their voices echoed throughout the corridors of the school in a program of Christmas carols. They also shared their melodies with Arnold residents by singing carols throughout the city.

Together with the choirs of Freeport, Springdale, Tarentum, and Har Brack, the Arnold choir participated in the Allegheny Valley Choral Festival held at Har Brack High School.

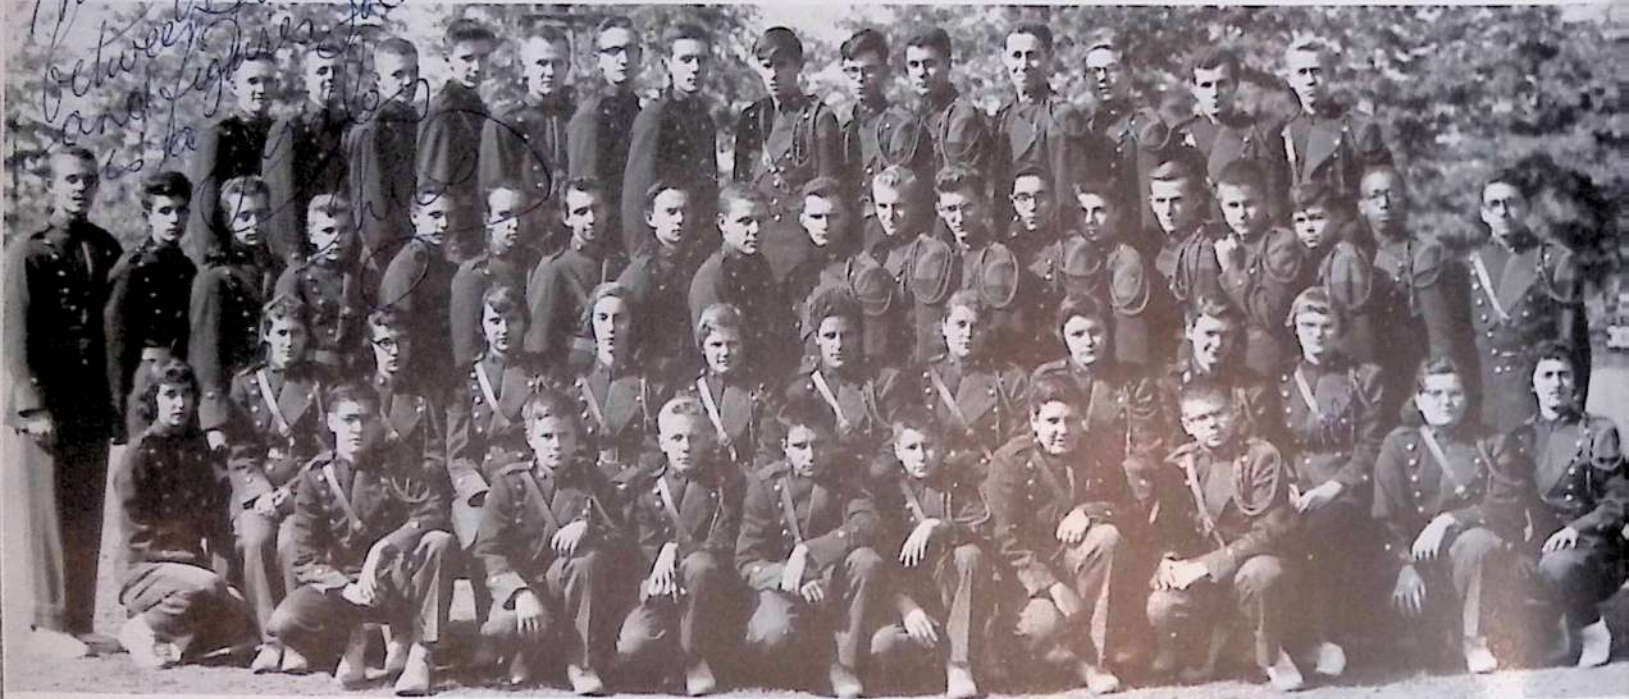

The members concluded a successful year with their Spring Concert in April, at which time, the band combined with the choir to make this a most enjoyable program.

Once again, the Arnold High School Choir has distinguished itself by a series of outstanding musical programs.

SENIOR HIGH BAND

The band and Lionettes' diligent practice since August has once again fulfilled a successful year. This well organized group left a good impression with their fine playing and original routines.

Their opening performance was to the popular "Man With the Golden Arm." Following were: "Tiger Rag," "Dark Town Strutters Ball," and "Bugle Call Rag." "Boogie Man" closed their performances for the 1956-57 football season.

The band and Lionettes also participated in the annual band festival. In addition to the parades in this valley, they appeared at Kenneywood.

Mr. Moses, the backbone of the organization, deserves full credit for the wonderful job of training and preparing the group for their performances.

The Prom

The din and excitement of this year-end event will long be remembered

"It says here that I have this dance with you"

One of the most colorful Junior-Senior Proms in Arnold High School's history was "Arabian Fantasy," held in the Roy A. Hunt Gymnasium.

Dominating the scene was a reproduction of a variety of scenes of Moorish and Arab architecture, complete with the minarets and arabesque, so common to Moslem life. A beautiful oasis scene held the interest of many of those who attended. The left side of the gymnasium was occupied by tables covered with white table cloths and centered with flower pieces and pink candles. Pink and white streamers flowed from the ceiling to give the dropped ceiling effect.

Entertainment was provided by Tommy Carlyn's Orchestra.

The junior class along with their faithful advisors worked very hard to make this an unforgettable evening and were successful in doing so.

The beginning of a wonderful evening

And on through the night—

Rain or shine, fair weather or foul, our cheerleaders always show a happy and confident attitude toward their team and fellow students. They convey the spirit and hope necessary to help our team display its best efforts. Our spirit builders are the spark plugs in a complex mechanism known to us as Arnold High School. To them we shall always be grateful.

ON THE GRID

From the opening whistle of their first game to the final shout of the year, our football squad proved to their loyal fans that they were a capable team.

Upon returning from a vigorous week of training at Camp Sequanota, the team won two consecutive games defeating Sharpsburg and a power-laden West Deer team. Freeport added the Lions to their long string of victories; Tarentum tied, and Oakmont came out on the long end of the score. The Lions came back strong by scoring easily against Ford City and then losing two in a row to Springdale and Leechburg. The season closed with resounding victories over Hampton and Plum Township.

This was the last season for veteran coach, Mr. Alex Tannas, who was made high school principal. Known throughout the valley as one of the outstanding coaches, Mr. Tannas will be greatly missed. He was replaced by his able assistant Mr. F. Martin.

BOARD OF STRATEGY

Messrs. Peretti, Tannas, Martin

Not pictured: W. J. Hajel

Mr. Martin, a former football athlete of Arnold, was welcomed by the team, faculty, and student body as the new head coach. He drilled the Lions during the last three weeks of the season and received the satisfaction of winning two out of the three remaining games. We all believe Mr. Martin is well on his way to a successful season next year.

Looks like there's going to be trouble ahead

"So let us fight, fight, fight team"

The highlights of the '56-'57 basketball season, though not all good, portrayed the fine spirit and sportsmanship of the Arnold Cagers.

The loss of Bob Lamendola early in the season because of a broken ankle was a big disappointment to the team. Another downfall was the loss to Oakmont in the holiday tournament.

One of the greatest victories of the season was the long awaited meeting of the Arnold Lions and Red Raiders on home ground. A capacity crowd witnessed the perennial thrill that these two teams always offer. The Lions came through with one of the league's biggest upsets when they defeated Har-Brack in an overtime game. Although the team didn't win the section title, they played arduously and required of every opponent their best brand of ball playing.

Coach McGuire will have four juniors and one sophomore plus a host of Junior Varsity players to fill the positions vacated by the five senior members. They will have a big undertaking ahead of them if they attempt to equal or surpass this season's thrills.

Although the Junior Varsity did not have a successful season, they did show possibilities of developing into a league leader.

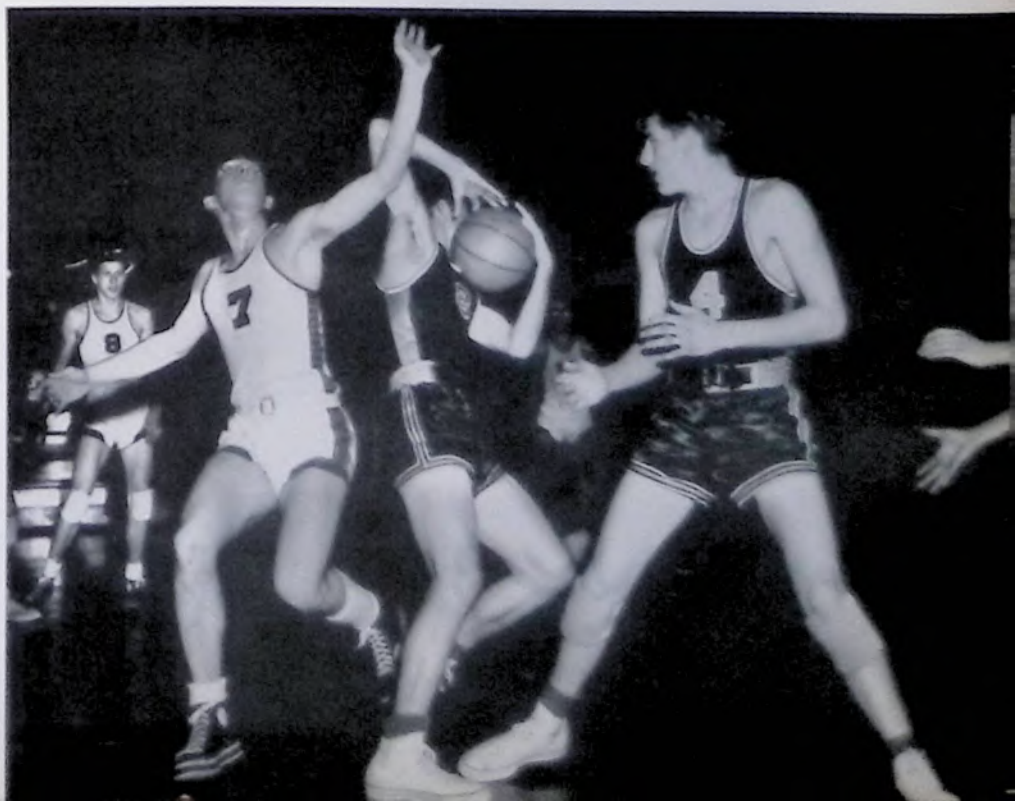

Garbinski reveals the form that made him

Our Cagers

Their skill kept the crowds cheering and opponents puzzled

Jack Garbinski: His famous one handed set shots tallied many points for his team ... selected on the All-Section I team.

Thomas Zamperini: Always there to catch the rebounds ... known for his jump shots. Led the team in points.

Edward Kondrad: Most improved player on the team ... has a habit of stealing the ball from the opponent.

Donald Terlinski: His great outside shooting kept the opposition puzzled ... dribbles a mean ball.

Eugene Posati: Faithful manager of the cagers for four years ... helped to keep their spirits high.

Jim Dotto: Tall and lanky center who has helped our team with his fine defensive play.

Baseball

It's a hit with anyone

Minus five key men and faced with a serious depth problem, the 1956 edition of the Arnold High Lions baseball squad began all-out drills to prepare for the W. P. I. A. L. diamond campaign.

The Lions, who are enrolled in the perennially tough Section II of the W. P. I. A. L., had to count upon eight returning lettermen and a handful of untried hopefuls.

Coach Phillips' boys showed that they were equal to the task in winning four out of nine games. One of their most notable games was with Har Brack in which Bill Tusing pitched a four hitter. In two other games, one with East Deer and the other with Tarentum, the Lions showed they had a great scoring punch tallying twenty-three runs to the opposition's six runs.

The outlook for the coming season is a bright one. Nine veterans are returning to form a solid nucleus for a good, sound ball club.

With the advent of warm weather, the racquet squad of Arnold High School began practice in preparation for the W. P. I. A. L. tennis season. Tom Kuhn and Tom Hill were the first and second men respectively. Eddie Kondrad came out on top in the battle for third man on the squad.

All of the Lion's tennis matches were highly spirited affairs with the Arnold team coming out on top in three matches while losing six. Their biggest wins of the year were against traditional rival Ken Hi, whom they defeated twice by scores of 5-0 and 4-1.

Returning to the squad this year are Matt Ziemanski, Eddie Kondrad, Robert Miller, Thomas Papik, George Richards and Freddie Frabotta who will make the Lions one of the scrappiest teams in the valley.

E. Posati, P. Jacobs, V. Choltco

The familiar shout of "Fore" echoed across the golf course from a team comprised of three veterans—Vic Choltco, Lou Ceraso, Dave Vrudny, and three newcomers—Eugene Posati, Dom Pallone, and Paul Jacobs. Although the season was unsuccessful from the standpoint of winning scores, it was not lacking in enthusiasm and desire to win.

Next year's team will miss the fine play of Vic Choltco, Lou Ceraso, and Dave Vrudny, but Coach Hajel will place his team around three veteran players—Paul Jacobs, Eugene Posati, and Dom Pallone. Their experience should prove profitable in giving the team that spark needed for the coming season.

L'ENVOI

It is a strange and wonderful feeling to see before yourself nothing but stretches of open space. In the May sunshine you stand at life's highest point, your graduation. From this height you can see all the valleys, fields, lakes, and streams that lay below. Look a long time at them for when tomorrow comes, somewhere among them you will spend the rest of your life. You will never again be able to look down from above, you will only be able to look up from below.

At this fleeting, precious moment drink in all that you can of the view from this point. Learn the path that the river takes, learn where the green fields lay, mark out the snares that lay in wait of foolish men. Then go down into the valley and be not afraid to live for God and man.

CODE OF ETHICS

- To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.
- To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.
- To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.
- Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow man, to resolve such doubt against myself.
- To hold friendship as an end and not a means—To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.
- Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state, and my community, and to give to them my unswerving loyalty in work, act, and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor, and means.
- To aid my fellow man by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.
- To be careful with my criticisms and liberal with my praise, to build up and not destroy.
