"Well, well, what's cooking here?" Students engage in their most pleasant pastime—eating.

Educated palates await with baited breath

Each day the cooking department must prepare food for nine hundred hungry students in three different noon periods. The food must be nutritious and tasty to satisfy all the Buccaneers from the most petite to the very rugged.

The students find the food as good as ever for the same low price, thirty cents for a complete meal. Our ingenious cooks manage to keep our active student body happy and contented with the very best in delectable foods.

Nobody is as particular about eating as a teenager.

From the Home Economics Department comes the constant humming of the busy sewing machines as well as the fragrant aroma of familiar and exotic dishes. These students are augmenting their culinary accomplishments and perfecting their tailoring techniques. In cooking classes these girls learn how to plan well-balanced meals that have high nutritional value as well as being versed in etiquette and serving techniques. Sewing classes provide the opportunity to work with material as well as learning about material. This experience provides the young woman with a well-rounded education.

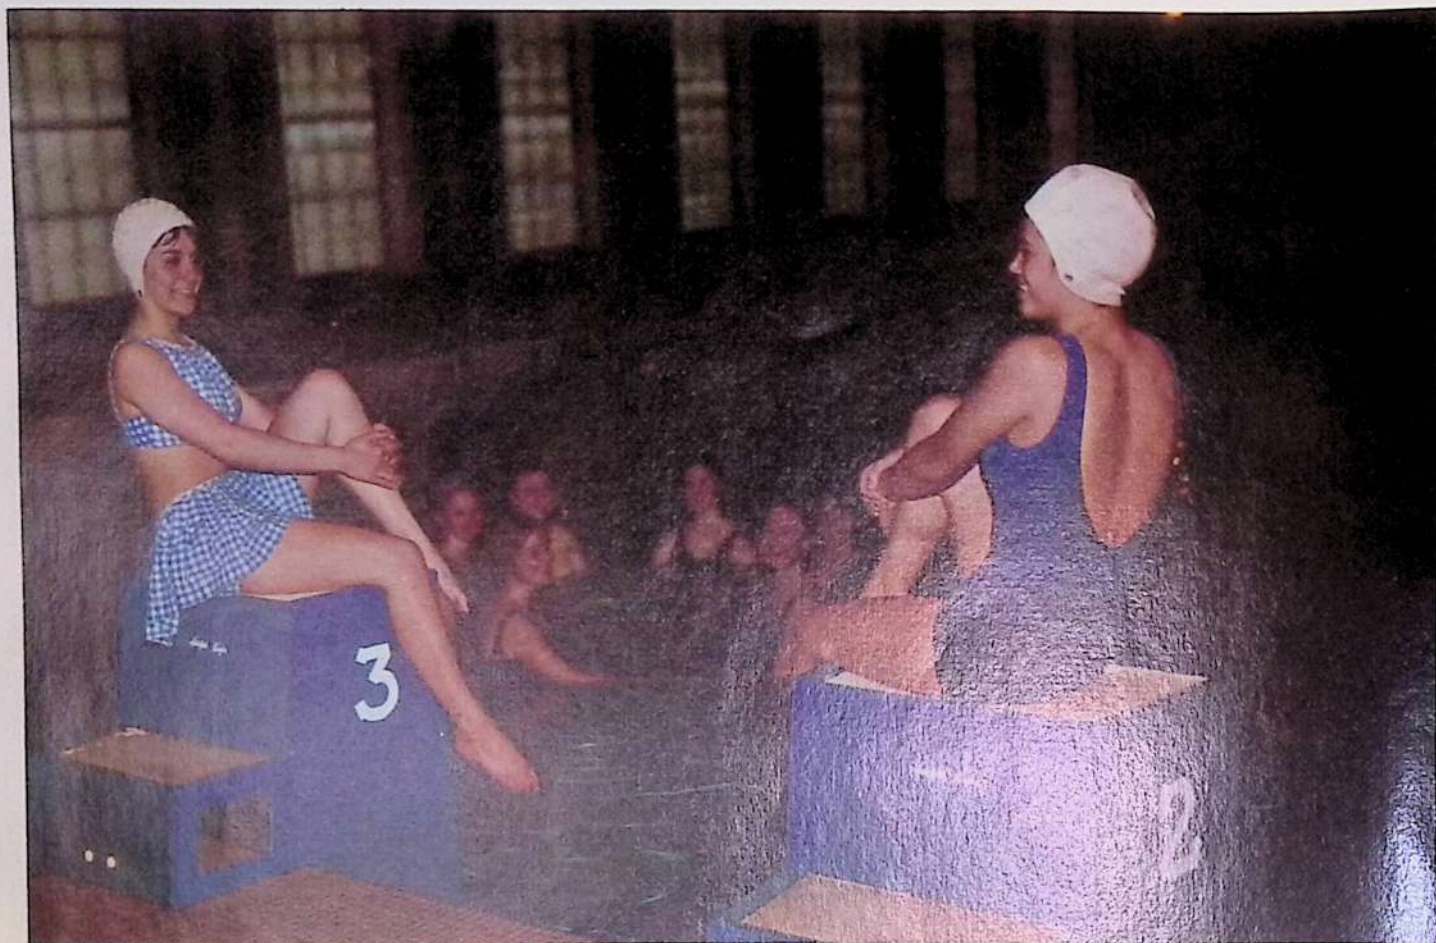

Sewing a well-made garment requires constant and careful attention.

Speed and accuracy

Each year the influence of the business world in our lives becomes greater. Students gain valuable experience that will enable them to enter this exciting world by taking the business courses offered at Burrell Senior High School. The student may follow the stenography, accounting, or clerical sequences. The Business Department has 80 typewriters, of which 40 are manual and 40 are electric. Other special equipment which is available for student use include calculators, ten-key adding machines, duplicators, and dictation machines.

The student body en masse! Sophomores—awed, bewildered, confused! Juniors—accustomed to confusion, conscious of senior rings and anticipating their senior year! Seniors—leaders of the followers, sentimental at the end, but proud to be Burrell graduates! This is the student body. These are the classes.

The Board of Education

During the year of 1965 some very significant changes occurred in the constitution of the school board of the Burrell School District. This was necessary because of the combination of the Lower Burrell and Upper Burrell School Districts into a newly merged district. On May 11, 1965 a convention was called by the county education officials at which time the five members of the Lower Burrell Board and four members of the Upper Burrell Board were elected into an interim operating committee consisting of nine members. On July 1, 1965 this interim committee automatically became the official school board of the new Burrell School District as specified by the law of the Commonwealth.

Each district has, in addition to its voting members, one advisory member who serves without the power to vote. They are Dr. J. D. Minford of Lower Burrell and Mr. Charles Beighley of Upper Burrell.

The Board of Education of the Burrell School District has the great responsibility of formulating the program of learning in our community. They concern themselves with both the main decisions of running the school and the minute details necessary for smooth administration. They have created policies for the educational program of the district that are designed to prepare the student for participation in a challenging future. Above all, these community-minded citizens have worked with the educational interests of the students in mind.

The Northern Westmoreland County School Authority

Behind the scenes in every organization, there are those whose efforts are unsung and unheard. The Northern Westmoreland County School Authority is just such a group. The civic-minded citizens of which it is comprised are appointed to the Authority by the School Board.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. A. R. Blair, the Authority was charged with the construction of the new Burrell High School. This consisted of plodding staff work with local citizenry on a day-to-day basis. It took listening to complaints, going to get-togethers and, on top of that, offering architectural advice and arranging financing. It wasn't easy and it wasn't quick. But it was worth it. Here in Lower Burrell, we can feel progress. We can touch it. And when we look over our shoulders we can see it.

Burrell Senior High School was planned for progress—intellectual progress. The blueprints are here. The foundations are laid. The intricate structures and superstructures of our advanced academic program provide stimulating experiences for interested students in a complete range of subjects. An experienced corps of extremely qualified faculty members are available with an almost inexhaustible store of knowledge. It's all waiting—waiting for the student whose goal is set high, whose ambition is unlimited. And the students are here too.

We, the students of Burrell High School are grateful to these members of the Authority.

The Guidance Department helps the individual to understand and to keep himself. Students needing assistance in selecting a course of study, investigating career opportunities, and applying to college may consult the school guidance counselors. Our counselors, Mrs. Francis and Mr. Hartz, endeavor to fulfill these needs of the student by helping him to prepare his schedule cards and college application forms, they also become acquainted with the student and aid him in adjusting to the problems that accompany academic demands. In short, the Guidance Department offers information and advice in aiding the student make his high school and post high school plans.

Mrs. Francis and Mr. Hartz spend much of their time in helping students cope with their problems and answering their questions.

Library furthers school's objectives

The library has furthered the school's objectives by providing materials for all subjects and all interests of pupils and teachers. Having an active teaching function, it suggests the reading of books which might be unknown or neglected. In meeting the needs and interest of the pupils and teachers, the library has organized, catalogued, shelved or filled, and displayed its books and materials so that they may be easily found and used.

The library is also used as a working and reading center for enjoying books, for doing research work, and for using all sorts of printed materials. In addition to learning to use library tools, the student also acquires the ability to use factual books and to form the habit of using libraries and library materials.

The language laboratory enables the teacher to converse with one student while the remainder of the class is listening to a taped program or the teacher may speak to the entire class. Perhaps one day all our classes may be conducted in this manner.

Taking a foreign-language does not stop with the learning of the language. In these classes the student explores old legends and customs of these countries. He is also given an opportunity to see clothes, books, pictures, cards, and other articles actually used in the homes of these people. The teachers make each country "come to life" for the student not only in a knowledge of the language, but also of its history, people, and the future.

The general objectives of instruction in the Social Studies Department are the development of responsible citizenship, the acquisition of skills and competencies needed for effective living in the present and future, and the attainment of worthwhile moral, spiritual and cultural values. Social studies encourages the use of objective, rational methods of analysis rather than emotional, unreasoned judgements in dealing with contemporary problems.

The student is much better equipped to be a responsible citizen from these courses taken during their school years.

exploration and experimentation

The Science Department of Burrell provides the students an opportunity to pursue their interests in the various fields of science. This department not only affords pupils a further understanding of scientific questions and phenomena but also enables them to stimulate their curiosity and their imagination. The science available to Burrell students includes biology, the study of plants and animals; chemistry, the study of chemical and physical composition of various substances; physics, the study of energy; and earth and space, the study of the heavens and the unexplored horizons of the future. Becoming more important each year, the sciences offered at Burrell are indeed necessary to the student going on to higher education.

The mathematics curriculum is a multipack program designed for all students in accordance with their future occupational and educational needs, with their varying talents, and with their particular programs of study in the senior high school. In addition to general mathematics, which is necessary for a citizen's ability to cope with socio-economic situations in our modern society, other courses, sequential in nature, are offered for those students preparing for occupations in business, for certain vocations, for business and technical schools, and for higher education.

In recent years the content and the approach to the study of secondary-school mathematics has been changing. With pertinent mathematical references in the senior high school library, with modern instructional materials, and with a five-year mathematics program for qualifying students, our mathematics curriculum is meeting demands of institutions of higher learning for curricular revisions in college-preparatory mathematics.

M. Wetzel points out the importance of math in our everyday life.

The Music Department's performing groups consists of a marching band, majorettes, concert band, dance band, senior choir, mixed choir, and double octet.

The marching band and majorettes performed at football games and local and tri-city parades. This year's group has set a high standard in their performances for forthcoming groups to emulate. Their precision drilling, dancing, and excellent playing brought forth many fine comments from the students and adults alike.

The eighty-five member senior choir is widely known for their excellent performances at concerts, and this year added to it was a thirty-eight member choir. In addition, the double octet of sixteen selected voices enhanced all of the concerts greatly.

MRS. DOMENICA T. VOGEL: B.S., Indiana State College. Typewriting, Salesmanship. Future Business Leaders of America Co-Advisor.

In Typing class, the student learns to develop a touch system of typing with a mastery of the keyboard, the ability of writing business and personal letters accurately and in good form, the ability to solve problems on the typewriter and to follow instructions, and the ability to type stencils and dittos for duplicating work. The students are also taught how to care for their machines. At the end of the course, students should be able to achieve a typing rate of 40 words a minute for a 5-minute period.

Typewriting II involves the further development of skills with increased emphasis on letter problems, tabulation problems, typing of forms, legal documents, writing reports, and the building of office production skill on a sustained basis. The student should be able to attain a speed of 60 words a minute on electric machines.

and efficiency

Well-trained office workers—especially secretaries—are America's most wanted students.

The Business Education Department has developed a program which contributes to the general education of all students and provides the student with the necessary skills and knowledge for employment in business.

This dual contribution is made by offering subject matter of a nontechnical nature that will develop the student so that he may become an intelligent consumer, and attain a clear understanding of our nation's economy. The vocational objective is to provide training for specific job skills, and to achieve the ability to use these skills in a business environment.

All students take the same academic courses and may elect one of the three specialized business subject sequences—stenography, bookkeeping or general clerical sequences.

MR. JOHN ROBUCK: B.S., Michigan State University. Health Education, Physical Education. Swimming Team Coach, Gymnastics Club Advisor.

The function of the physical education curriculum is to translate social and educational philosophy into teaching procedures and into actual daily behavior. The curriculum is not only the medium for self-discovery and self-realization, but a steering gear for society as well. Each generation must acquire democratic patterns of behavior, feeling, and thought. Without this, democracy will be destroyed. Physical education will provide the conditions and experience conducive to the achievement of wholesome personal values and self-realization in harmony with the broader social goals of democracy.

Homemaking promotes skills

The Homemaking Department assumes the responsibility of preparing students for a happy, worthwhile life. To meet this challenge, a curriculum has been devised to include the following main areas: family clothing, textiles, and tailoring; home decorating; child development; flower arranging; home nursing; foods and nutrition; personal, family, and community relationships.

The courses are taught in a pleasant, relaxed, "workshop" atmosphere where a close teacher-pupil relationship permits girls to learn while they work together in class.

Although the girls prepare for many professions, each is destined to be a homemaker.

Manual training yields useful products

The Industrial Arts Department is an essential part of general education for both boys and girls. The experiences in this area are centered around the study and use of tools, materials, and processes which are adopted by industry. The experiences should contribute to functioning, coordinated part of the total general education program. Industrial arts helps to broaden the basic knowledge of up-to-date practices used in industry today and in the future.

In addition, an approach to these objectives that differ from the traditional classroom situation is the actual concrete experiences, as well as the theory phase of education.

The industrial arts class gives students an opportunity to develop their skill in woodworking while they learn the basic principles of electricity. Not only do the students spend their class time in the electronics lab and woodshop, but they also spend part of their time studying in the classroom.

Electricity is one of the many skills taught in our well-equipped shops.

Art sparks creativity

Art is one of the most vital areas of personal enrichment in public education. The values gained through creative art experience will be utilized throughout one's entire life.

No matter what one's interests or abilities may be, he has the capacity to be creative. Art serves to enrich the aesthetic understanding of the interested student, and by challenging his creative energies, serves to strengthen and enrich other areas of study or endeavor.

To meet these ends, a variety of interesting and challenging art experiences is presented to the student in a modern fully equipped facility.

Drivers education

"Slow down. Slow down!" Those two words are synonymous with drivers' training. Each day students take turns chauffeuring Mr. Domen around the school grounds and adjacent roads. Many a student has been both embarrassed and slightly unnerved when Mr. Domen tells them, very calmly, that they have run through a stop sign or a red light.

Drivers Training instructs the students in the fundamentals of driving. One purpose of this course is to emphasize the necessity for observing all safety and traffic rules and regulations. Students who successfully complete this course are prepared to pass the state test required to secure an operator's license.

Mr. Domen prepares for another day with Dave Nicholas.

Occupational education

The Occupational Education Program is a three year program designed to equip the students with the knowledges, skills, and abilities that are actually required in everyday living.

The student is in the classroom for half the day for academic instruction and out in some local business receiving on-the-job training the other half of the day. The student is at each training station for a period of nine weeks and upon the successful completion of this program should become a good citizen and productive worker in our society.

The purpose of the school lunch program is two folds: to provide a nourishing meal at a minimum cost, and to help the student form good eating habits which will remain throughout his life. It is hoped that through daily encounters with correct food combinations, the student learns how to eat and what to eat. He is introduced to new foods high in nutritional values which he may otherwise never have the opportunity to taste and enjoy.

Our school's lunch program is one of the few that provides a hot meal in everyone of its school buildings, reaching out to the entire growing enrollment. A staff of thirty-five women strive endlessly to achieve the ultimate goal; that every student partake daily and reap the advantages of the school lunch.

Each day's menu assures students of a well-balanced diet.

The technical content of the medical, dental and nursing portion of the school health program are prescribed by and under the general direction of the Secretary of Health.

Screening devices are used to single out those students who need further attention. Such tests are essential supplements to less frequent, periodic medical and dental examinations.

Medical examinations are done on all students in the Junior class, if they have not been done by their own family doctor.

It is hoped that through the health services provided, that each student will become aware of the importance of health.

JUNIOR CLASS

Through the combined efforts of many people, our junior year was a successful one. From beginning to end, it holds many fond memories for everyone. Who can forget that fateful election when the toss of a coin decided our leaders? Ours was the job of planning and carrying out that first Burrell High Junior-Senior prom, a memory we share with the seniors. We have many scholastic memories too. Ours was the exhaustion of College Boards. How we struggled through those books in this "middle" year. Yes, we are the "in-betweens" striving for greatness. We are the guides to next year's success. We are the key to the future of Burrell High. We are the Juniors.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Senior High! We finally made the grade. No longer are we the "Freshmen" in a junior high building. We were graduated to bigger and better things. Now we are the "underclassmen" in a world of juniors and seniors. We are the ones who asked with questioning eyes, "Where's the cafeteria?" At present we must depend on these confident ones for the answers to our unceasing problems. But we must look ahead. We are a new beginning. Ours is the challenge of the future at Burrell High. We will always remember that first wonderful year when we were known as the Sophomores.

National Honor Society

Mr. Bell, NHS advisor, discusses plans for the year's activities.

The purpose of the National Honor Society is to recognize students who are outstanding in scholarship, service, character, and leadership. A student becomes a member of the National Honor Society upon maintaining a "B" average and upon recommendation by the faculty. In addition, the honor is based upon qualities of leadership, service, and character.

By setting and achieving the highest goals, National Honor Society members attempt, and usually succeed, in attaining their commendable ambitions and aspirations.

The Student Council is the ruling body of the school and the link between students and teachers. The main objective of the council is to develop good relations between students and faculty. The council sets up certain rules for our school. Students are given the right to voice their opinions and express their ideas for improvements. It is important that the future citizens of our great country learn the principles of self-government and the right to vote.

1966 Buccopia

Presenting . . .

The job of publishing a yearbook begins in the spring of the year and extends throughout the summer months when most of the preliminary planning is completed. The work is then continued during the current school year with the staff performing a variety of assignments: scheduling, taking, and selecting pictures, planning layouts, writing copy, and working on cover and end sheet designs. Frequent deadlines make the task exciting and exacting.

Much planning goes into the development of each section, which is individually drawn up and done over until perfect. Each part of the book is assigned to various staff members, who, with the help and guidance of the sponsor, assume the responsibility of compiling that section.

Numerous incidents such as misspelled names, lost negatives, or missing pictures provide fun for all who assist in the production of the annual.

Nancy Kobericks' fine art work helped boost yearbook sales.

Burrell Hi Lites

D. Venter, P. Maloney, J. DiGirolamo past a layout for the next edition of the Burrell Hi Lites.

The members of the Hi Lites staff have striven to make our newspaper follow the expanding interests of the students—to have the paper grow along with the school. Their purpose has been to make the Burrell Hi Lites not only a chronicle of events or record of school news, but a true representation of the spirit of Burrell Senior High.

Through the newspaper, the students and faculty got a first-hand account of school activities and events and also the opinion of students on various items. The staff, whose job was collecting the news and writing it, worked hard to meet the deadlines.

Forensic League

As an instrument in projecting individual opinion and defending local, state, and international relations, the National Forensic League is a major factor in the organization of intelligent, sound views.

The main objectives of the league are to prepare and present panel discussions, oratories, interschool debates and civic programs in exchange for public speaking experience and personal satisfaction in achieving their goal as a member of NFL.

Competition serves as the main instrument in achieving excellence and honor of distinction on the national level.

Literary Magazine

Who perceives the future? Who cannot say that some day Burrell may be honored with a literary champion or a Pulitzer Prize winner?

Working toward such a goal is the staff of the "Scrawler"—our annual writing anthology. Representative of the school's best creative writings, the "Scrawler" encircles a wide field of fiction and non-fiction, poetry and prose, book reviews and manuscripts.

In addition to the written words, images from talented minds and palettes are illustrated.

Yes, lustrous writers of the future may look back at the "Scrawler"; at their beginning.

Building the character of boys so that they will be worthy citizens of our community is the main purpose of the Key Club. This purpose is carried out through the projects sponsored by the club. Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, the club is directed by Mr. George.

Library Club

The Library Club, under the direction of Mr. Papurello, do much more than merely stamp library passes. These girls spend their study halls in the library performing such duties as accessioning books, placing pockets and cards in the books, and placing plastic covers over the volumes. The club also takes care of the periodical room, the guidance and professional library. It is through these student librarians that our library is kept running smoothly.

Audio-Visual Aids

The members of the Audio-Visual Aids Club are taught the operation of much of the special equipment used in our daily classes. The boys learn to operate the movie and opaque projectors, to prepare transparencies and to keep the equipment in good operating order. Each morning the assigned boys distribute the desired equipment to the teacher who is scheduled to use it. At the end of the day the equipment is returned to the library and stored for use the following day.

Chess Club

Do you know how to play chess? Not many people can give an affirmative answer to this question, but members of the Burrell Chess Club have become competent at the skill required in the game. Each session of the Chess Club involves the pairing of individuals for matches; at the end of a series of matches the top players are chosen. Future years will find the club competing with other schools.

Interest runs high in the club, whose members own their own equipment.

Sturdy recreation and competitive spirit

Girl's Athletic Association

The purpose of the Girl's Athletic Association is to promote athletic programs for the girls of the high school, create an interest in the physical fitness programs, and to regulate the intramural activities. The membership consists of any sophomore, junior, or senior girl who has a desire or interest and will take part in athletic activities. An election of officers is held at the end of each school term. At this time a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and director of intramurals are chosen. It is a rule that each officer chosen must be an active member. Also appointed are standing committees of five members each. These include the executive committee who organizes meetings and plans activities, the program committee who sets up meetings and carries them through, the points committee who regulates the points to be given to the members for the activities, and the constitution committee who makes up and adds any amendments to the constitution.

Future Nurses of America

Dedication and hard work—both are needed for a nurse's job to be done well. The members of the FNA explore the world of medicine and the role which nursing plays in it. Having received their charter on May 1, 1964, the chapter keeps informed of the activities of other FNA chapters by attending biannual conventions throughout the state. This year the girls established a scholarship fund for a member who will enter a nursing career.

Instruction in the use of the side horse, rings, parallel bars, ropes, balance beam, and the Swedish vaulting box are some of the skills the students of the Gymnastics Club are taught. Field trips are taken and films are shown to increase their knowledge of various routines and stunts.

Astronomy Club

Polaris, right ascension, and declination are all familiar names to Burrell's Astronomy Club. From one starry night, interest has developed in its members who now observe the stars when they can no longer be seen in the sky. This is made possible by the fact that Burrell is equipped with its own planetarium, a viewer to the various constellation positions in space which are focused on the dome-shaped ceiling.

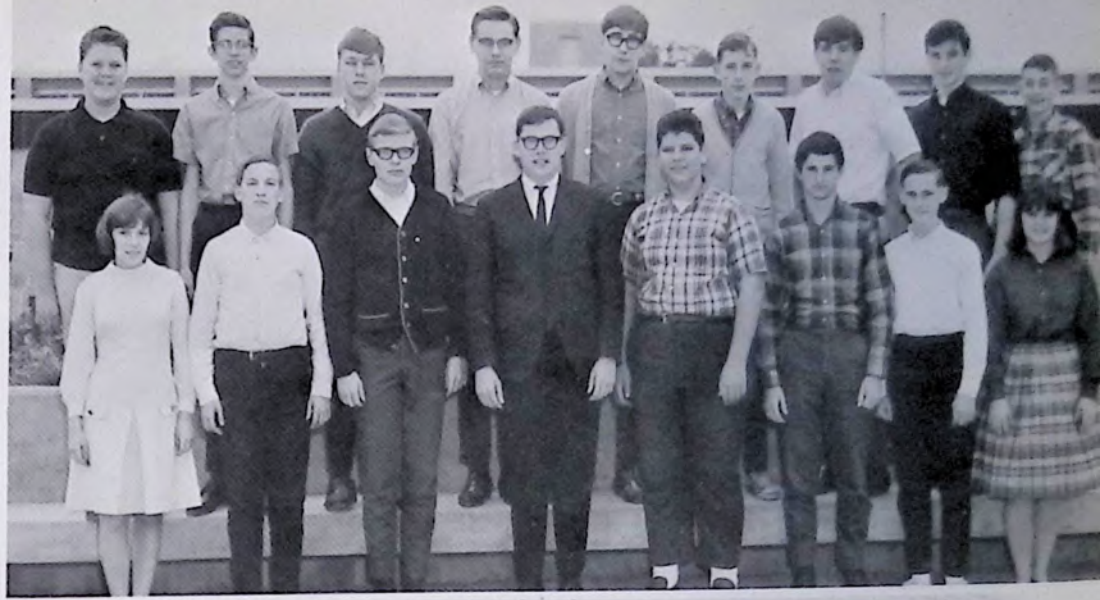

Under the advisorship of Mr. Accai, the members become familiar with the heavenly bodies through lectures dealing with the first discoveries of astronomy to the current exploits in space.

Science Club

The "Beaker Breakers," as the members of the Science Club are called, are those students who display an intense interest in all fields of science—whether it be chemistry, biology, astronomy, or medicine. In the club, each student's particular interest is stimulated and expanded by means of informal discussion groups, lectures, films, natural science field trips, reports and experiments. In this way the student is acquainted with information and direct experimentation in the field desired as a life-long occupation.

Photography Club

The Burrell Photography Club, under the direction of Mr. Szul, is a satisfying, creative hobby, practiced by a great number of enthusiasts in the United States. By learning the techniques of photography in high school, students acquire a knowledge of the camera, a knowledge which can prove beneficial later on. The main purpose of the Photography Club is to interest students in photography. The organization is comprised of seventeen members. Through informative programs, members learn picture-taking techniques and the art of developing prints, along with learning about the camera and its parts. If students study photography in high school, they have the knowledge needed for their own photography enjoyment.

Dramatics Club

Perhaps the Burrell Dramatic Club may someday send a star to Hollywood or Broadway from its numerous thespians. Designed to acquaint drama students with different phases of acting, club members learn stage make-up and technicalities, such as operation of lights, curtains, and back drops.

Since membership is limited, new members are selected by auditions by the sponsor, Mrs. Christy, and the executive board. Membership is opened to all high school students.

At least one play is produced each year. This year the first senior class play presented was "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder. Hours of hard work were put into the production of this play by all of the members of the Dramatics Club.

THE PROM

Climaxing many months of preparation, Burrell opened the gates to its Roman city. The first prom in Burrell's history was held on May twenty-first from nine o'clock until the bewitching hour of twelve o'clock.

Pillars girded the city wall while Roman subjects danced to the entrancing music of Viccherone. Juniors and their dates strolled through the gardens that over-looked the city and led into the main court yard with its fountain and banquet tables.

As the clock struck twelve, students scurried into another section of the Roman palace where the post prom was held. The highlight of any feast is entertainment—in our case it was dancing, singing, and a bit of comedy.

At the wee hour of six our weary but happy Romans called it a night and boarded their chariots for home.

Wrestling comes into its own

Burrell High School's wrestling team was the sensation of the A-K Valley with an unbeaten record of ten straight matches before encountering its first defeat. The team's strong desire to win contributed to a highly successful season of 11 wins and 3 losses.

Wes Weston remained the only undefeated Buccaneer. Other Buc wrestlers with top scores were C. Swanderski 12-2, D. Nicholas 10-2-1, B. Baker 10-3, and E. Slezyski 10-4.

Last year, in the Bucs first varsity encounter, the team compiled a 6-5 record. K. Broffman, E. Slezyski, C. Swanderski were awarded trophies for top performances.

Coach Robert Jones has made wrestling a very popular sport at Burrell. The matches drew many spectators who witness keen competition which demands agility, balance, and endurance as well as strength.

Max Krugle is about to be brought down after a six yard gain against Plum.

The Burrell Bucs began their first season of varsity football on a hot, humid, and sunny Saturday afternoon on September tenth. Under the leadership of Coach Eugene Urbanski and his assistants, Frank Solomond, Eugene Bacha, and James Collins a scrappy green gridiron unit was produced which took the field with only junior varsity experience.

The determined Bucs found the going a little too tough against stronger and more experienced teams. Stinging from four straight scoreless losses, the Bucs came through with its first touchdown against a shocked Tarentum Redcat squad with Jeff Johasky scoring from the twelve yard line. The Bucs witnessed another touchdown from a sensational drive in seven plays led by an outstanding performance from freshman halfback John Suvoy.

Team injuries along with the lack of the Bucs offense to get rolling terminated the season with a 0-9 record.

Under the coaching of Mr. Eugene Bacha, our Bucs, in only its second varsity season, finished in second place in a strong Section 13-A competition. The team showed a season record of 11 wins and 9 losses and an 8-4 loop mark.

North Allegheny, defending champion of Section 13-A provided the home fans with a thriller. The highly rated champs saw their lead gradually disappear with two seconds remaining of the game as James DiMuzio dropped a 30 foot jump shot to give the Bucs a 46-44 win.

The Bucs began the season with a veteran lineup of 8 lettermen. These included: J. Ames, D. Saylor, E. Misik, B. Valentine, D. Harris, J. DiMuzio, C. Krail, and B. Wiegand. Climaxing their high school careers were J. Ames, E. Misik, and D. Saylor.

LOWER BURRELL LIONS

Lions Code of Ethics

To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself.

To hold friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give to them my unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

To be careful with my criticisms and liberal with my praise; to build up and not destroy.
