Arnold High

School . . . 1963

There are many cherished memories that our high school days provide. Some will be remembered better than others, such as that important game you wanted so much to win, your first school dance, and at last the wonderful feeling of accomplishment when that coveted diploma is placed in your hand. We find each student acting out a small part of his life, and our camera has captured one year of that role in pictures.

For most students this is just one more stepping stone to another grade. However, it is the biggest step in life for the seniors. Many people have put forth their efforts to prepare them for the road that lies ahead.

To help remember these special moments, we present to you, the student body of Arnold High School, the 1963 Arlion.

Today's Students develop into . . .

In this time of great crises, the student of today must be prepared to continually advance his education in order to keep pace with the drastically changing world. Arnold High School offers a diversified course of study to meet the needs of each student for the career that he chooses to follow after graduation. His training equips him to go directly into the world of business and industry or to further his study in our colleges and universities.

"Oh, is that how it goes?"

"Whew! what a day."

Just as all roads lead to Rome, all paths at Arnold High School lead to the office of Lawrence F. McGuire. At one time or another each student has made his way to Mr. McGuire's office for the answer to his problems. The Arlion staff would like to take this opportunity to thank him for his services by dedicating this edition of the Arlion to him.

Mr. McGuire was graduated from St. Joseph High School in Rensselaer, Indiana. He attained a Bachelor of Science Degree at the Carnegie Institute of Technology and then did graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh where he received his Master of Letters.

Arnold High School has acclaimed the services of Mr. McGuire since 1932 at which time he taught mathematics and drafting. He has been our head basketball coach since 1936 and has become known as the dean of basketball coaches in the valley. In 1942 he won the WPIAL title and has won six sectional titles up to the present time. Also, he is veteran advisor of the student council which originated in March, 1947. Along with teaching, he accepted the responsible position of guidance counselor in 1956. Two years later he turned to counseling as a full-time task.

Mr. McGuire is married to the former Florence Jones who is a sixth grade teacher at Arnold. They have two sons: John, who is a junior in college; and William, who is a sophomore in high school.

When thinking back to our high school days, we will remember the significant part Mr. McGuire has played in the building of our futures. He has given incentive to us who have faltered in our movements toward success.

The quest for knowledge and understanding is the one clear call for each of us. It is the secret which opens the doors to the future and what lingers on horizons facing youth of today.

Daily we associate with our fellow students, browse through our textbooks, and through the efforts of our teachers, we manage to absorb valuable lessons of life. We learn that habits formed and ideas conceived in early life remain with us for many years to come. Through the medium of the classroom, our knowledge is broadened, and with this comes understanding. These experiences make us more able to face and cope with problems life often passes out in numbers.

It won't be long now!

Always on the job

Boy, we have all the fun!

... to get our share of wholesome glee

Work now, rest later.

Administration

The guiding hand of any school, large or small, is the Board of Education. The Arnold School Board is comprised of men with foresight and ability. The welfare of our schools is considered first in all their endeavors.

We, the students of Arnold High School, are grateful to these men whose interest and wisdom have made our educational system one of the finest in Pennsylvania.

Graduates of 1963,

To you life grants time and space—as much time as ever before was offered; as much as ever before existed. You shall greatly determine the use of that time and the occupancy of that space. Your decisions will count the seconds of eternity and measure the areas of infinity. Upon your decisions, largely predetermined by your inner will, hangs the future of the universe.

What do you wish? How will you employ your strength and vigor; your freshness and originality; your vision and determination? These are your possessions! Use them wisely to maintain the ideals of freedom for which your ancestors sought, fought and wrought.

“Life itself can’t give you joy

Unless you really will it.

Life just gives you time and space;

It’s up to you to fill it.”

Graduates of 1963:

As a citizen you must be alert to today's fast-moving world events and to their significance. The increasing complexity of the problems of humanity, the population explosion and world resources, the current ideological conflicts, the danger of nuclear conflict and the dilemma that confronts the young people of today constitute a problem or a series of problems that are so very compelling that you can no longer afford to ignore them. What we can do is afford to be flexible in our thinking toward our responsibilities and choice of pulling together for the benefit of all mankind. "This is your challenge toward building a better world in which to live."

To the Graduates of 1963:

Congratulations! Begin now to seek the path to your future. Let the training and education which are designated in your diploma become the means through which you interpret the world of tomorrow. Let your interpretation be in terms of our rapidly developing space age.

Learn to understand and know how to use the new technical language of our modern era. You may find your field of interest among this list of stellar areas: College careers and professions, automotive specialists, advertising and selling, electronics and instrumentation, chemical and physical laboratory technicians, welding specialists, data processing technicians, engineering assistants, engineering draftsmen, precision machinists and machine tool operators, and metallurgy technicians.

From the above, decide which "star" appears brightest to you; and let the inspiration of your choice lead you through life's work.

SENIORS

Knowledge, courage, and strong character must now all come forth as we leave our beloved "halls of ivy" for a position of our own in life. We have prepared ourselves for this important step with the constant aid of our principal and obliging faculty. Gradually we recognized the rewards of learning and the value of an education. As we depart our separate ways, the sense of fair play that we developed as well as the words of our teachers will remain with us to guide us always.

Warm and lasting friendships were formed that made our school days more pleasant and memorable. Working together as a class held many pleasurable experiences mingled with a strong responsibility to ourselves. Sales projects, football and basketball games, plays, and the prom were some of the many activities we shared as fellow students as well as friends. These relationships we will always remember with fondness and finally they will become nostalgic.

Arnold High School has served us well and we are grateful. We are now ready to approach the broad horizons of life properly.

JUNIOR CLASS

Diligent work and careful planning accounted for the juniors' success as a class. Besides displaying their earnest effort for a high scholastic rating, they have proven definite ability to handle sales projects smoothly. There was much time and work involved as many juniors turned vendors at the football games and traveled the stadium with baskets of candy, popcorn, peanuts, soft drinks, and a cheerful attitude to aid sales.

Increasing their funds further, Christmas candles were sold as a last major project towards their goal. This campaign was also capably handled.

Eagerly anticipating their senior year's excitement, they prepared academically and spirit-wise. The delightful prom was an excellent exhibition of their responsibility and creativeness.

Initiative, hard-work, and cooperation was ever present among the sophomore class as they completed their first year of senior high school. Taking part in the high school activities was quite exciting for them and opened many doors for social contact as well as academic standing.

Each sophomore in his chosen course began to prepare for the future with a certain willingness much needed for our present world.

Adjusting quite well to the advanced atmosphere, they efficiently carried on projects with the proper spirit and concentrated on the "road ahead" with determination.

They have much more to look forward to; each year's gain of knowledge, the enchantment of the prom, the banquet, and the somewhat saddening thought of graduation. Many days of happiness will be theirs as they continue to work and learn in their junior and senior years.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Signs, posters, slogans, and other colorful campaign material decorated the junior high corridors during the freshman election period. Many supporters wore chains, hats, and tags with their candidate's name making quite an array as they gathered at school. A genuine recognition of democratic voting and good sportsmanship was created as each strove for victory. With the knowledge gained in civics class, they conducted election day in the proper manner as they also practiced responsible attitudes.

Besides an elaborate election, the freshmen held a magazine sale with rewarding results. A class dance, in addition, rated as a project planned carefully to add to their treasury and experience. They have found happiness and a storehouse of knowledge as a class and as individuals.

New coach has a winner

Mr. Sellari, Coach

The Arnold Junior High School basketball team began the 1962-63 season with a defeat at the hands of Ridge Avenue. But that was not an indication of "things to come." From that game on the Junior High played great basketball.

Led by their great ball-handling ace Dan Barbiaux, they trounced such arch rivals as Tarentum, Lower Burrell, Main Street, Wood Street, and Springdale. The team had won every section game of the season.

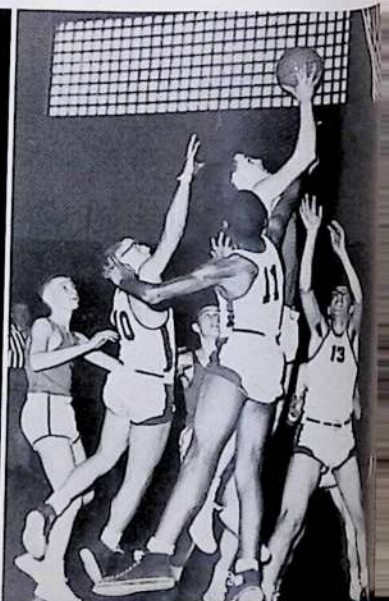

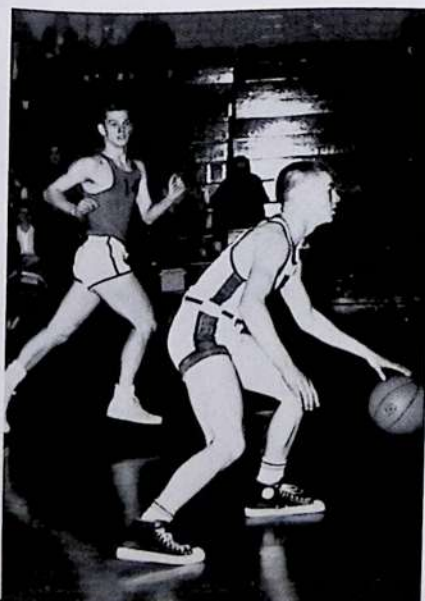

Springdale had an equally impressive record, having lost only to Arnold. A win for the Lions would mean the section championship. After a hard-fought game, the little Lions had fallen a bit short in the scoring column. Arnold and Springdale were named co-champs. This was an impressive accomplishment for the Lions, who finished last in 1962.

Congratulations, Champs, on a fine season and best wishes to Mr. Sellari in his future years of coaching at Arnold High School.

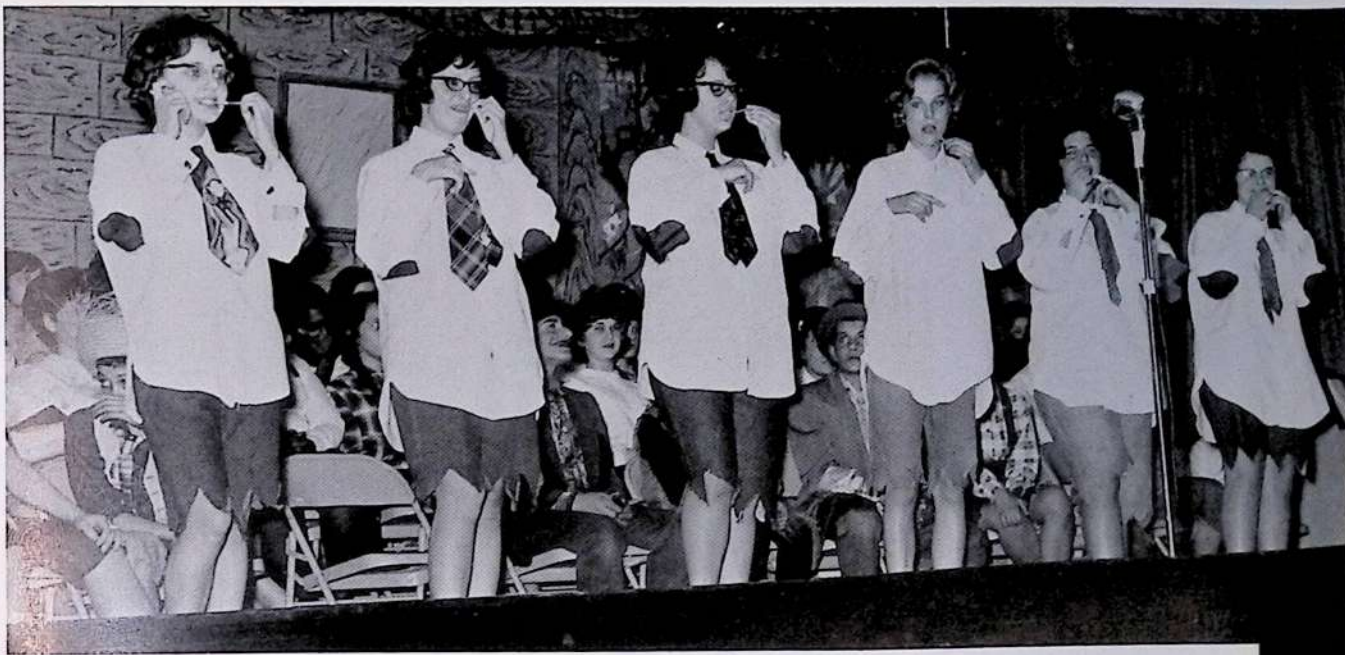

Coach and players look on anxiously.

ARLION

It is the intention of the Arlion to serve as a screen on which the shadows of this school year will be kept fresh in our minds. Each year our book has proved to become a record of all our exciting memories.

Early in the summer the members of the staff began drawing up a dummy copy and soliciting for ads and patrons. As the school year progressed, hundreds of pictures were taken, senior write-ups are composed and information concerning clubs, sports, and other activities are compiled. The Arlion staff worked together as a team in meeting all unexpected problems and deadlines.

This year's Arlion presents a vivid picture of the 1962-63 school year. Our staff has approached this undertaking with great spirit that ventures to make their book the best.

The 1963 Arlion staff along with Mr. Pallone, our advisor, sincerely hope that this yearbook has achieved its goal—to compile a book that will serve as a reminder of the best years of our lives.

Dobie's many loves

Senior Class Play

A light spirit prevailed constantly through the senior high play, "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis." Being an energetic, dynamic, impish-type teen-ager, Dobie got out of one dilemma just to be faced with another. How to raise money for the school paper was the particular situation handled humorously in the play. Sponsoring a spectacular dance proved to be the answer and presented many problems for Dobie and his friends to solve. Girls of all types continually surrounded Dobie to add to the colorful script. There was beautiful but scheming Helen, demure and likeable Bonnie, and dramatic Limbo Lamb. Good-looking, athletic Petey Bellows was Dobie's reason for not retaining Helen's attention. All turned out well for Dobie as he finally gave his affection to Bonnie whom he recognized as the only girl for him.

The appropriate and simple dialogue with the interesting characterization contained many amusing moments and helped make the play enjoyable. Warm and friendly attitudes were taken on by the cast to substantiate the roles.

Student Council

Student governing is the power given to our Student Council. The main objective of the council is to develop good relations between students and faculty. In addition to this, it sets up certain rules which help to uphold student loyalty and respect for our school. The council also gives students the right to voice their opinions and express their ideas for improvements. Altogether, these help to make our students better citizens.

Football Club

The Football Club, like any other club, has a definite purpose.

The purpose of the club is to review plays of previous games and discuss the upcoming game. Movies are shown to find trouble spots on the line as well as in the backfield. Every player is given the chance to express his own opinion on plays; he can also suggest plays that have never been tried before. The sponsor, Mr. Martin, points out the strong points and the weaknesses of the opposing teams.

Future Homemakers of America

The FHA, sponsored by Mrs. Ventura and Miss Keil, endeavors to further the members' interests in homemaking. Their many activities included serving refreshments for the prom, selling fudge, and making gifts for the hospital patients.

The girls' enthusiasm to learn more about the art of homemaking and their willingness to do the work are only two important factors contributing to future successful homemakers.

Future Teachers of America

Within five years the Arnold Future Teachers of America has grown from a charter group of seven to a present enrollment of fifty-eight. During the same period this group has increased its scholarship awards from twenty-five dollars to two hundred dollars.

The future teachers engage throughout the whole year in many activities. The most noteworthy are: honoring the faculty on Teachers Appreciation Day, assisting at open house, helping the elementary teachers prepare their Christmas program, aiding high school teachers with daily tasks, and guiding children in reading at the local library.

Library Club

The members of the Library Club relinquish their study halls to perform many varied duties in the library. Some of these duties include typing, filing cards, mending books, preparing books for circulation, and writing overdue notices. However, it is not all work. These girls also displayed their originality and artistic ability in creating beautiful bulletin board displays. The intent of these displays was to encourage the reading of books.

Future Nurses Club

The keynote of this year's Future Nurses of America Club was looking ahead. For the sophomore and junior members, this involved mostly looking ahead to volunteer work at Citizen's General Hospital. For seniors, however, "candystriping" was much more than volunteer work. It was a good way to gain needed experience. Even more important, it gave each member a preview at the kind of work they would be doing in the future.

Key Club

The Arnold Key Club is a service organization sponsored by the New Kensington Kiwanis. Mr. Hajel, advisor of the group, spends much time and effort on projects which will develop an unselfish attitude in its members.

During the year these boys clean the stadium, hold dances, sponsor an annual Christmas tureen dinner, and perform a number of small but nevertheless important tasks in the school and on the campus. They also help in various Kiwanis fund raising activities.

Leaders Club

Since its initiation two years ago, the G.L.C. has more than proved itself as a worthwhile club to the school and to its members as well.

With members from the ninth through twelfth grades, the G.L.C. works to arouse among girls an interest in athletics and at the same time promote good sportsmanship.

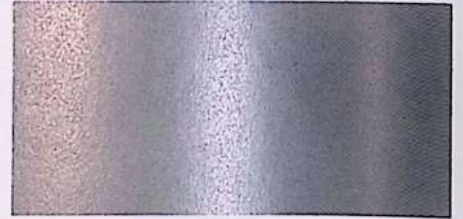

The highlight of the activities included a successful intramural volleyball tournament. The club also has a weekly activity period for its members.

National Honor Society

Members of the National Honor Society are looked upon with pride and respect by their fellow students. They represent the finest example of youth in our school.

Selection for this honor is based upon four requirements: scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Students must maintain high standards in each of these four requisites to be eligible for membership.

By setting and achieving the highest of goals, National Honor Society members attempt, and usually succeed, in attaining their commendable ambitions and aspirations.

Mathematics Club

The National High School and Junior College Mathematics Club is an organization whose purpose is the promotion of enjoyment and understanding of mathematics. The Arnold chapter seeks to enlighten any interested student in modern mathematical problems not discussed in regular classes.

Inspired by its advisor, Mr. Gearhard, the club has explored channels of mathematics which have opened a new and interesting world to its membership.

The Club's leadership this year has been supplied by Louis DeRose, president and Richard Michael, vice-president.

Auto Shop

The Arnold High School Auto Club is under the direction of Mr. Livrone, and it is open to any student enrolled in vocational auto shop.

One of the highlights of this club's meetings is the showing of movies made by the various automobile manufacturers describing the assembly line processes and other points of interest to the future auto mechanic. Also, problems encountered during the week while working on different cars are discussed.

The chief purpose of the club is to enrich the student's knowledge of the automotive world.

Machine Shop

The Machine Shop Club gave its members valuable information confronting the machinist of today. The Club was directed by Mr. Gressly. Officers were: President, Ray Kieszek; Vice-President, Frank Gentile; Treasurer, Donald Pasquerella; Secretary, Dennis Munshower. One of its projects was conducting a survey for the need of an industrial museum in this area. The results thus far seem favorable. The club also toured a local plant, and held a social during the year. Money was raised through the sale of liquid glass auto polish.

MAJORETTES

Gaily decorated uniforms, fluttering blue and orange plumes, and high white boots mark the appearance of our high-stepping majorettes. Under the direction of Franklin A. Lorence, these perky majorettes have done it again! The corps has lived up to its fine reputation of having the ability to thrill its half-time audiences. They started the season with "Love is Sweeping the Country" and ended it with a bit of patriotism. The student body of Arnold High School is proud of the majorettes and it hopes that they continue to enjoy success.

This vivacious group of girls put forth their best efforts during the football and basketball season to bring out the school spirit. They presented themselves as a good example to the student body and encouraged the kind of cheering for which Arnold would like to be known.

Following closely in the footsteps of their "big sisters," the junior varsity and junior high cheerleaders set forth a fine example of what practice and hard training can do.

J. Kelly, L. Locanto express their appreciation.

A calm appraisal of "Disneyland."

THE PROM

All out for "Disneyland."

On the night of May 11, 1962, the juniors and seniors arrived at "Disneyland." All were ready for a night of fun and enchantment. The whole Junior Class was justly proud of how they transformed the gym into a creative work of art depicting Disneyland.

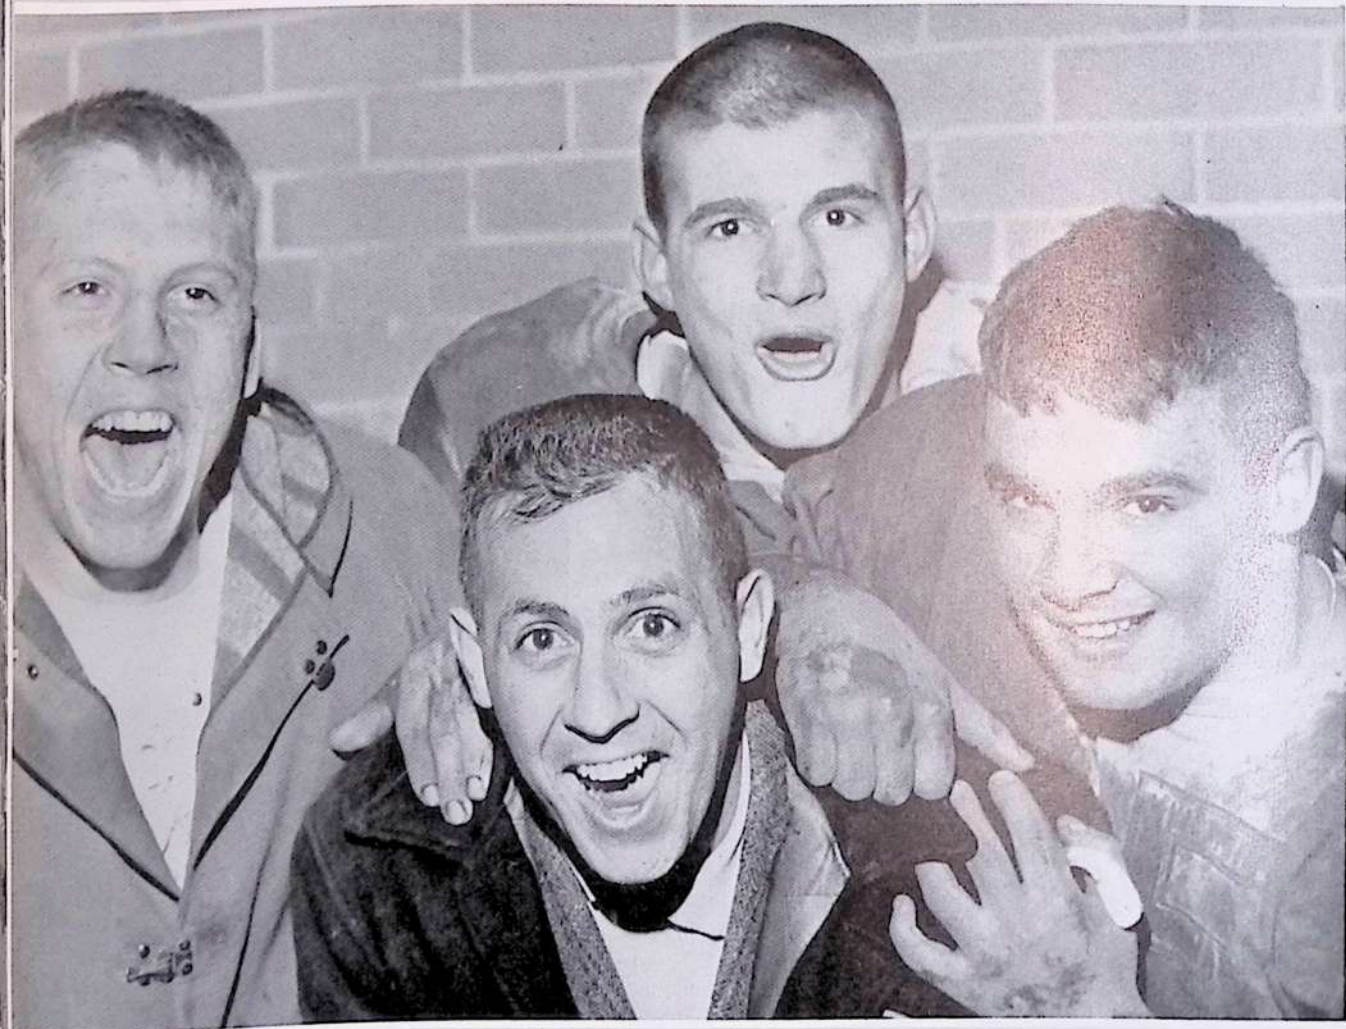

Upon entering through Donald Duck's mouth, the couples were confronted with all the marvels of Disneyland, an ultra modern home, submarine, and a monorail. These and nearly everything else were constructed with hundreds and hundreds of fluffy, colorful kleenex.

The overwhelming excitement continued at the P.T.A.'s Post Prom Party. Everything was just right at the party—the food, the dancing, and the entertainment.

Who will ever forget that night!

Athletics . . . Lions crowned

There was good reason for all the excitement. Our Lions chalked a 7-0 decision against Plum High School to nab the crown in the first annual AIC title game. The players are C. Mele, D. Olivo, D. Fiorentino, and Coach Frank Martin, foreground.

With a mighty roar the Lions rushed to meet their opponent.

Arnold is the first Allegheny Interscholastic Conference champion to earn that distinction in a playoff game. The Lions settled the doubts of their critics by beating Plum High School the second time this season by a score of 7-0.

It was a decisive victory with Arnold's defensive alignment keeping the fast Mustang backs in check all night. Although the Lion's offense couldn't generate enough power in the first half, Arnold's defense kept a surging Plum team from reaching the cherished land.

In the second half, fans saw a fired-up Arnold eleven move for the lone score after taking the second-half kickoff. Arnold's offense which was mired deep in its territory throughout the first half, wasn't to be denied in the second half.

undisputed AIC grid champs

J. Stuck grins as he catches a pass from D. Olivo in game with Springdale.

Our majorettes didn't mind the mud on the night of the AIC championship game. S. Karluk does the clean-up job on L. Ansani, while M. Rogers looks on.

C. Mele makes good yardage around end against Oakmont.

The work and cooperation exhibited by the team were justly rewarded.

A howling, screaming mob saw the Lions emerge the victorious AIC champs. The Lions rolled to an outstanding record of nine wins against only one defeat.

In the only loss of the season, the dual hopes of the AIC Championship and an undefeated campaign was wrecked when our Lions were handed a 13-7 defeat by Leechburg.

In the most thrilling game played this year, the Lions won a hard-fought 20-14 victory over Springdale. With seven seconds remaining on the clock, a desperation pass by Springdale from the Arnold 30 yard line slipped through the hands of the intended receiver.

Not to be forgotten are the close calls in games with West Deer, Freeport, Oakmont, and Ford City. Each game provided its thrills to make this an all too exciting season.

Our coaching staff led by Mr. Martin deserves much praise for a job well done.

G. Welsh races for good yardage.

Basketball Season

The 1962-63 basketball season was a disappointing one for many Arnold High School fans. Our team played many exciting ball games in which they just fell short of winning. The home games with Springdale and Tarentum were especially heartbreaking defeats. But the Lions never gave up—the game was never over until the final buzzer had rung, and the season wasn't over until the final game.

With the exception of senior Joe Borrelli the entire squad will return again next year. With this year's experience under their belt, the Arnold Lions will be one of the teams to fear in the 1963-64 Section 11-A battle.

D. Coyle shows that "never say die" attitude.
