PURPOSE

The purpose of a high school year-book is one of record. It is a chronicle of times and of people. Its place is in the past—a reference file for the heart; a reminder to forgetful minds of days and of dreams of a unique and very special period in the high school person's life.

These pages represent to you the pin point of time that is the present. Tomorrow these words and this book are past. And that is their purpose—to remain upon this spot, a marker and a reflection of your life—to stop in its tracks reality of present and preserve it for the backward glance of another day. This Antler is here with 1949; move on and where you will, we call time's bluff and wait for your return in company of memory. This cover is for dust; these pages for your tears of laughter and of sadness—it is yesterday.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Throughout its history East Deer-Frazer School District has been fortunate in having at all times among the members of its Board of Education many outstanding figures in the industrial and business world. These men and women have been instrumental in giving to the School District the leadership which has contributed to its growth not only in a material sense but in a spiritual sense as well. Membership on the Board is esteemed as an honorable distinction. It carries with it an obligation to promote the cause of education.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY !

36 YEARS OF SERVICE TO OUR COMMUNITY

Members of the Class of 1949:

You, the Class of 1949, have the honor of being the first graduating class in the East Deer-Frazer Union School District. You have won first place in many activities within the school, also. Your team has reached first place in football this year. Your homemaking class is the first class to use the recently acquired modern home making equipment. (A first class job of doing it, too.) You have the highest average in grades as academic students, also the greatest number of academic subjects per pupil ever recorded in the high school. In personality you rank A plus. Your class has been noted for your courteous, respectful attitude toward your teachers. You are leaving pleasant memories behind you, both among teachers and underclassmen.

You are the last class ever to have the privilege of being under the supervision of Mr. Clark. It is not necessary to remind you of the influence he has had in your lives, for you will have made many of his precepts yours. How fortunate you are! You are the last class to have Mr. Rometo for your football coach and for your class sponsor. In later years you will recall with pride that you were personally directed and taught by so fine a character. Yes, you are fortunate, indeed.

You are leaving high school with glowing faces, kind hearts, inquiring minds, wearing the evidence of culture your years in high school have imprinted on you—all ready to begin to live. May the light in your eyes grow brighter, may your sympathetic attitude toward your fellow men deepen and grow with the years, and may your education become so broad that you will be the first to recognize your obligation to your fellow men and last to disregard the call of duty to yourself, your fellow men, and to God.

GRADUATION

Graduation . . . the future! Those are the words we have thought of for years. Those are the words which have carried all our hopes, all our dreams. Now they are no longer in the future—they are upon us. Graduation! What can this word mean to us now? Graduation closes a door on twelve years of what has suddenly become a cherished period of our lives. It tears us from a carefree existence and from friends and happiness and thrusts us into a world ablaze with post war economic uncertainty.

Born on the fringe of the threadbare thirties; we have had to live with the experiences of the chaotic forties. We have seen our parents meet problems that seemed insuperable. We have their example of fortitude and courage, and we have twelve years of education which has prepared us to meet the exigencies of life. Shall we not take these factors and apply them with firm determination to the creation of a better world in the future? Let us resolve to do so.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Underclassmen establish the justification of high school education. Their undaunted enthusiasm, their desire to learn, the very element of their youth convince administrators and teachers alike of the worthiness of their life's profession.

From the dewy-eyed youngster who enters a green seventh grader to the worldly wise freshman, hence to the befuddled junior—all alike are exposed to social, academic and leadership achievement. Inambition, ignorance, sheer lack of ability—all have been attributed to the underclassmen. But truthfully speaking we must acknowledge the tremendous contribution the underclassmen make year after year to high school life.

DEVELOP ABILITIES

science he obtains an over-all preview of the entire science field; in biology he learns of the important inter-relations of all living things; in physics he views the world of energy working through machines, upon which we depend so much in our modern daily life; and in chemistry he may study

SCIENCE COURSES

the vast field of materials of which our universe is composed, with some glimpses at its past achievements and future possibilities.

In each of these courses he will learn to apply the scientific method to his problems, to shun error, and to search for truth.

DEVELOP ABILITIES

He will learn to use his mind and his hands creatively, and he may acquire a spark of that great spirit of science that has done so much toward giving our nation its share of world leadership.

ACTIVITIES

It is difficult to achieve a fully developed high school life through scholastic achievement only. In support of this idea our school offers an extensive and valuable co-curricular program. Talent for drama, publication work, art, athletics and musical ability are all given an opportunity to develop.

Activities successfully balanced with an academic schedule are invaluable in benefit. We are proud of the co-curricular activities program that our school offers.

School News Final Edition Is Released

School Superintendent Leaves Parting Word

"Tomorrow must be better than today for our sakes—yours and mine. I go, but remain believing in each and all. If you fail me, you fail yourself, and we both suffer pain from a work left undone or not done well.

"May we part in person, but ever be with each other in the spirit of trust and love for each other. I wish you well," wrote James E. Clark, retiring supervising principal of the East Deer-Frazier schools, as he penned a parting thought to the student body and faculty for the final senior edition of the school monthly publication which was released yesterday.

Letters from the desk of Miss Etta A. Singleton, high school principal; and Mr. Albert Romero, class sponsor and successor to Mr. Clark, also appear in the newspaper.

The front page of the senior edition is a picturesque memory of the Junior-Senior prom which was held on May 13, at the American Legion ballroom at Tartentum.

"The Forty-Niners Are" was a feature article presenting the individual 49 members of the class and their most outstanding characteristics. A sport's review was written by Francis Moxie in final tribute to the class sport's heroes.

The list of "Seniors Plans" included everything from being an air hostess to an undertaker as the talented members of the graduating class told about their vocations.

Robert Zarko signed his name as class president to the las' will and testament of the class of 1949 which bequeathed only the best attributes to fellow classmates who might need aid to complete school studies.

Ravioli and spaghetti were the favorite dishes of the hungry class members as listed in the student publication.

The senior edition was concluded with the written page of the memories of the four years of high school life as lived by the 1949 class.

Co-sponsors of the "Hi-Lite" are Miss Laurabelle Eakin, Mrs. Louise Hill and Marcus T. Allias. Miss Doris Jean Ristoff was the editor for the 1948-1949 school year.

The Radio Club has a way of repaying those who elect it as their choice.

For, in addition to being a hobby that provides more fun and educational entertainment than is likely to be expected, it very often becomes a highly profitable spare-time business.

The students in the club study the background of radio and gain experience in the handling of radio apparatus. They gain valuable radio information. The fundamental radio and electrical facts are explained. The members are interested in discovering the fundamentals and facts of radio in order that they might broaden their understanding and their experience in the subject.

“Learn to think of others as well as yourself” was the motto of the Modern Miss Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America during the past year. This motto helped us develop the purpose of our club which is to promote a growing appreciation of a happy life in school, home, and community.

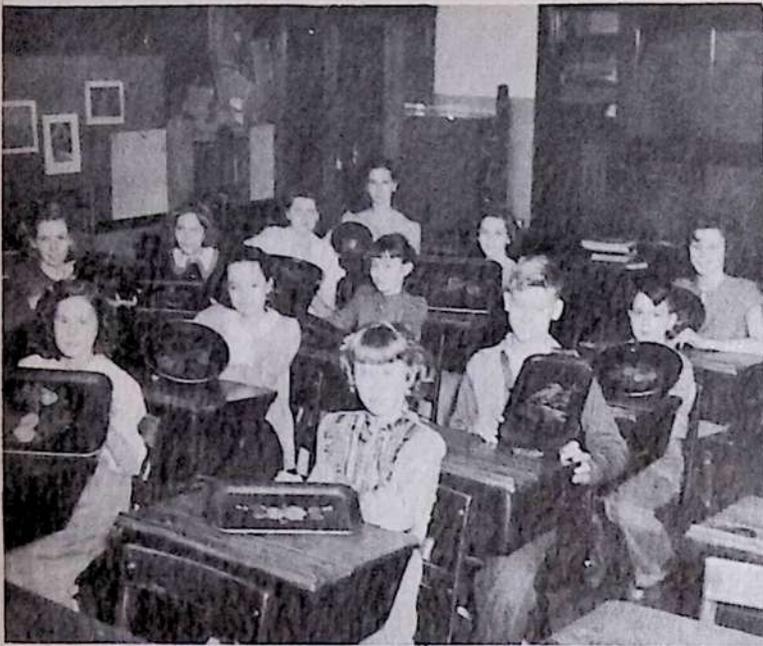

Our activities all helped to make life happy for others. European children were the first group that we attempted to make happy. To these we sent knitted scarves, mittens, and socks. To orphaned children at St. Anthony’s Village, Oakmont, Pennsylvania, we sent clothes, fruit, groceries, and valentines for St. Valentine’s Day. To children at the Elizabeth Bradley Home our Easter treat included candy eggs and chocolate bunnies.

In our school and community we sponsored the Coronation Ball. Our program included the processional, the coronation, the entertainment, and the recessional.

President ..... MARY ANN KINOSZ
Vice President ..... ROWENA ANDREWS
Secretary-Treasurer ..... VIRGINIA RECK

The Initiative Club is an organization to develop self-reliance and initiative in its members. This is done by having the members conduct business meetings, plan interesting, as well as, instructive programs. This year the membership planned and completed many interesting and worthwhile projects.

For a Christmas project the members decorated goblets and ash trays to give to their parents and friends. During January and February they made their Christmas cards and valentines into scrapbooks, which were given to the children's ward of the Citizens' General Hospital, New Kensington, Pennsylvania.

For an Easter project the members made plaques from paper plates and other decorations that they gave to their parents and friends. Many of the friends used these for kitchen decoration; many remarked that these decorations added a note of cheer to their homes.

This year has been the most successful and instructive year that the Initiative Club has enjoyed since its organization.

SCIENCE CLUB

Do you enjoy investigating the intricacies of various machines? Do you like to "tinker"? Do you have the patience, the keenness of observation and the skill to carry on precise manipulations? If your answers to these searching questions are in the affirmative then you will most certainly enjoy the usual, annual activities of the Science Club, for the club exists to foster these and other related projects which typify the spirit and practice of the inquiring mind. Your personal interests may be in any of the fields of high school science, namely physics, biology, or chemistry. It matters not, for in Science Club meetings you will be permitted and encouraged to attempt various experiments, not included in formal laboratory procedure. This year the club has carried out various projects involving gasoline engines, plastics, glass, photography, and model making; the choice of interest depending on individual preference. The club members perform or observe as they choose and are permitted to work at their own rate, whether fast or slow. Every earnest club member is sure to enjoy himself, and may, upon occasion, contribute considerably to the enjoyment of his fellow club members whose chief interests are scientific in nature.

ART APPRECIATION CLUB

Officers

"Every child is born with the power to create; that power may become the key to joy and wisdom and possibly self-realization. Whether he becomes an artist or not is immaterial."

The Art Appreciation club aimed to enrich the life of its members and develop a love for beauty and harmony; to develop skills and character through the manipulations of tools, and to develop tastes and appreciation.

Activities for the year have been creative, technical, and appreciative as the following list of accomplishments denotes: picture study, paper mache, clay modeling, placque construction, tray decorating, and textile painting.

JUNIOR DRAMATICS CLUB

The young Thespians in this club have shown a great amount of interest this year.

The club made an intensive study of the technique of acting, make-up, balancing a stage, and the various dialects. The girls enjoyed making some very clever marionettes, while the boys made miniature stages.

A number of money-making activities such as a tea dance, candy sale, and a rummage sale were successfully conducted by the members. The club planned and enjoyed an inspection trip to some of the important points of Pittsburgh after the close of school.

ATHLETICS

High School would not be high school without athletics. While helping to maintain a strong body, they provide excellent recreation and promote healthy competition. In East Deer-Frazer's community it can truly be said that every student is given adequate opportunity to develop and participate in his own individual athletic interest—cheer-leading, twirling, football, basketball, and baseball. For this is what builds a community into a stronger unit.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Class of '49, of East Deer-Frazer High School in Creighton, County of Allegheny, State of Pennsylvania, being low in spirit and high in ambition, do declare this to be our last will and testament. This is to take effect on Monday, May 23, nineteen hundred and forty-nine, the day on which this class passes into the trials and tribulations of our future life.

Collectively we bequeath:

1. Our undying loyalty and affection to our dear, old school.
2. Broken chemistry equipment and "banged up" typewriters to next year's unfortunate classes.
3. Our football achievements to anyone who thinks they can equal them.
4. Our tardy and absence excuses to the Juniors because we are sure they will need them next year.
5. Our financial status to the money-making Sophomores.
6. All of our various accomplishments to the Freshmen for their next three years of hard work.

From the individual members of the class we happily leave:

Joe Ochaba's trips to Har-Brack to Tom Argo.
Mario Biondi's good looks to Howard Armstrong.
David Ferrari's vocabulary to Stan Bajack.
Edward Misera's blush to Al Belinotti.
Phyllis Kobylinski's broken glasses to Bill Berecin.
Leonard Palovcic's exploding chemistry experiments to Paul Bogan.
Emil Rometo's car to Albert Gohn.
Edward Hunchar's batting average to Tom Janosky.
Francis Moxie's trombone to Joe Kolek.
Irene Demboski's dancing skill to Bernard Kuchta.
Jim Smith's corny jokes to Dennis Ladik.
Jack Mazick's odd sense of humor to Clements Moxie.
Dick Waugaman's curly hair to Donald Myers.
George Hrivnak's "love-making scenes" to Bob Pavlik.
Andy Vrana's "tall tales" to Don Shearer.
Lillian Muroski's ambitions to Richard Olean.
Bob Shondeck's "wolf tactics" to Warren Smith.
Violet Spece's pleasing smile to Lois Anderson.
Phyllis Lord's costume jewelry to Donna Bartosh.
Bill Kuchta's talkative manner to Lois Callender.
Gertrude Baccanti's man troubles to Gladys Galli.

Martha Kolesar's cooperation to Gertrude Cypher.
Joan Errico's neatness to Marie Drown.
Olga Bogan's postage stamps to Verley Gandziarski.
Peggy Crane's perfume to Eleanor Getta.
Dorothy Burton's band music to Bernice Hockenberry.
Martha Pugh's duplicates of homework assignments to Mary Louise Hunchar.
Bob McCaskey's extra pounds to Gloria Janello.
Tony Tyborowski's almost new Trig book to Zora Lazo.
Mary Ann Cervenak's engagement ring to Marilyn McCandless.
Julius Stofega's freckles to Virginia Mellon.
Alex Skudneski's "two front teeth" to Joyce McLaughlin.
Arthur Kuchta's friendliness to Audrey Orris.
Pauline Petrikovic's flightiness to Rosemarie Patula.
Henry Cetti's towel, the one he left at home, to Marlin Getty.
Dorothy Pelczar's bored expression to Doris Jean Ristoff.
Beverly English's horse to Helen Sevcik.
Betty Grossi's "grapevine news" to Mary Shamburg.
Dorothy Barcikowski's datebook to Janet Smith.
Julia Woodman's comptometer speed to Audrey Sprowls.
Mary Lou Kropp's rosy cheeks to Ella Mae Thompson.
Anita Iuretig's late hours of study to Dorothy Waszkiewicz.
Joe Kubichan's mischievousness to Edna Wangler.
Betty Ballerini's love notes to Loretta Zemla.
Regina Stoffel's fingernails to Wanda Zubik.
Bob Santarlaschi's manners to John Cupec.
Joanne Martino's talkativeness to Dolores Bialas.
Bill Woodson's arguments to George Greiner.
Bob Zarko's intelligence to Bill Vrudney.

This last will and testament having been signed, sealed, delivered to its executor, Miss Singleton, is to be read on Friday, May 20, in the High School auditorium, with the request that the juniors take good care of our long cherished items which they inherit.

Signed,

THE FORTY NINERS.
