LASTING MEMORIES OF FRIENDS

Mark Vigilante
1966-1984

In a sense there is no death.
The life of a soul on earth lasts
beyond his departure.
They seem so far away and
yet so close to my heart.
I find myself thinking about yesterday and find my memories of them still live on.
They live on in my life and in the lives of all who knew them.
We will always feel their lives
touching ours, their familiar voices speaking to us.
They touched our lives in a special
way, and though it was brief,
They will never be forgotten.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

The Business Department functions as a source of instruction that teaches the students specific skills which will prepare them to enter the business world and/or institutions of higher education. In accordance with this, the students are exposed to the latest office innovations, as well as the basic office procedures. Several new microcomputers and printers were purchased this year as a result of the growing interest in the business field. These computers and printers were added to the numerous others which have become a vital part of the business program at Valley through the course called Microcomputer Programming.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Scipione Alcibiade, Chairman

The staff of the English Department work together to reach the common goal of improving the "communication skills" of all students. This year, a reading program, which requires the students to improve their literary knowledge through the reading of more novels, was incorporated. A greater emphasis was also placed on the writing skills of the students.

A new course, called Honors English was offered this year on an experimental basis. This course, taught by Mr. Alcibiade, was offered to give students the chance to acquire advanced skills in English. Computers are now being used in the English Department as a part of Honors English.

Preparing students for life in an increasingly scientific and technological society is the goal of the Science Department. In order to attain this goal, the proper scientific equipment is needed as well as formal instruction. This year, it was the good fortune of the department to receive a grant, enabling it to purchase a photospectrometer to be used in the chemistry laboratory. The "computer room," which is also a vital part of the Science Department, is frequently used by the many students enrolled in the science courses offered at Valley.

The presentation of a vibrant program which will encourage academic students to study a foreign language is the main objective of the Foreign Language Department. Acquiring a second language enhances the broad educational goals and values of all students. In the 1983-1984 school year, a general conversation course was introduced to both French and Spanish. It was introduced to promote a greater interest in learning the target language. Presently, the department is trying, as funds become available, to acquire an indepth library of language software. It is believed that computers will be an enhancing, dynamic tool that will help stimulate, encourage, and facilitate learning in foreign languages.

Besides the large departments at Valley High School, several small departments combine to enrich and complete the educational program. From the fine art and music departments come the esthetic study and display of the talents of many students. The industrial and graphic arts offer vocationally directed courses to make students understand the processes of printing and wood and metal work. Special Education offers alternative education for those with special needs and, along with county and supportive teachers, helps to round out the workings of Valley High. Also with the professionalism of T.V. Productions, programs, assemblies, and broadcasts can be projected, directed, and recorded on videotape to keep a lasting record of the excitement of learning at our school.

WHAT WE'LL REMEMBER 84-85

At Valley, it was the year that in-school suspension and student-parking lot pick-up after school were instituted. We had a new band director, Mr. Notte, and a new basketball coach, Coach McNabb. The Animal House cleaned up its act and helped restore Valley's reputation for school spirit.

In the nation, it was the year when Ronald Reagan was re-elected by a huge margin. Geraldine Ferraro became the first woman ever nominated for Vice-President. William Schroeder received the second artificial heart implant. Restoration was begun on the Statue of Liberty, and programs all over the country helped to pay for the restoration.

In the world, it was the year that India lost Indira Gandhi to an assassin, and the Soviets changed leaders. With the Soviets absent, the United States turned in a superb performance at the summer Olympics in Los Angeles. All over the world, people became aware of the suffering and death due to famine in Ethiopia.

In music, it was the year when Prince and the New Power Generation gave us "Purple Rain," and the Jacksons made their Victory tour. Julian Lennon made his debut with "Valotte," and Tina Turner made a comeback. Bruce Springsteen proved he's still the Boss with "Born in the U.S.A." and Cyndi Lauper bopped into the spotlight with "She's So Unusual."

In entertainment, it was the year when we enjoyed breakdancing, rapping, and VCRs, and everyone was playing Trivial Pursuit. We went to the movies to see films like "Ghostbusters," "The Karate Kid," and "Indiana Jones in the Temple of Doom." On TV, we watched shows like "Cheers," "The People's Court," "The Crosby Show," "The A-Team," "The Guiding Light," "General Hospital," and "Saturday Night Live."

In fashion, it was the year when girls wore mini-skirts, walking shorts, and fluorescent pink, orange, and green, and guys wore cut or ripped sweatshirts, while the less daring among us stuck to button-downs, sweaters and jeans. Hair trends for girls included moussed hair and tails dyed a different color. Guys wore tails too, or they had their hair slicked back.

Mostly, we'll remember moments . . . heartbreaking, close defeats for the football team . . . Valley cheerleaders filling in for the Pitt cheerleaders . . . not having a homecoming dance . . . Cupids delivering Smooch-A-Grams on St. Valentine's Day . . . Mr. Rogusky emceeding Rock Night.

FAREWELL

A yearbook is a collection of memories. We hope that this book has captured the bits and pieces of life that made the 1984-85 school year unique. In years to come you can pick this book up and relive memories of one special year in your life.

We would like to thank everyone who worked so hard to make this book: our editors, Amy Banichar, Laura Sturlini, Kim Marzullo, Kathy Bernardi, Kim Zak, Monica Grando, Dennis Conwell, Julie Palko, and Suzi Palko; our photographers, Mark Gatto, Fred Lukac, and Dana Blaney; the rest of our hard-working staff; our yearbook publisher's representative, Mr. Sylvan Pinto; and a special thank you to our sponsor Mr. Thomas Wilczek.

To next year's yearbook staff and all the underclassmen, we wish a successful and memorable school year. And to the graduating class of 1985, we extend our sincere hopes for a successful future.

DAMARIA,

Damarla

to a good friend whos
the greatest. Your soo sweet!!
You were always there when I needed you and probably will always be there when I need you. Remember when we were walking home from Bellamos and I kept tripping? I never saw you laugh soo hard all the times we worked for your dad and then pigged out. Those meals were the greatest. I will always love Bobby and I know you will always love Shawn (smokey) but we have to go on with our love lives. We both have the same problem and we can work through it together.
There's one more thing I like you for. I can tell you anything and I know you won't laugh or tell anyone else. You one of the few I can trust. You understand. I love ya for it. Your the world's best friend to me. No matter how much we fight sometimes we always make up. We can never say that we are best friends because that's what ruins it all. I don't want that to happen to us. we always.   me
